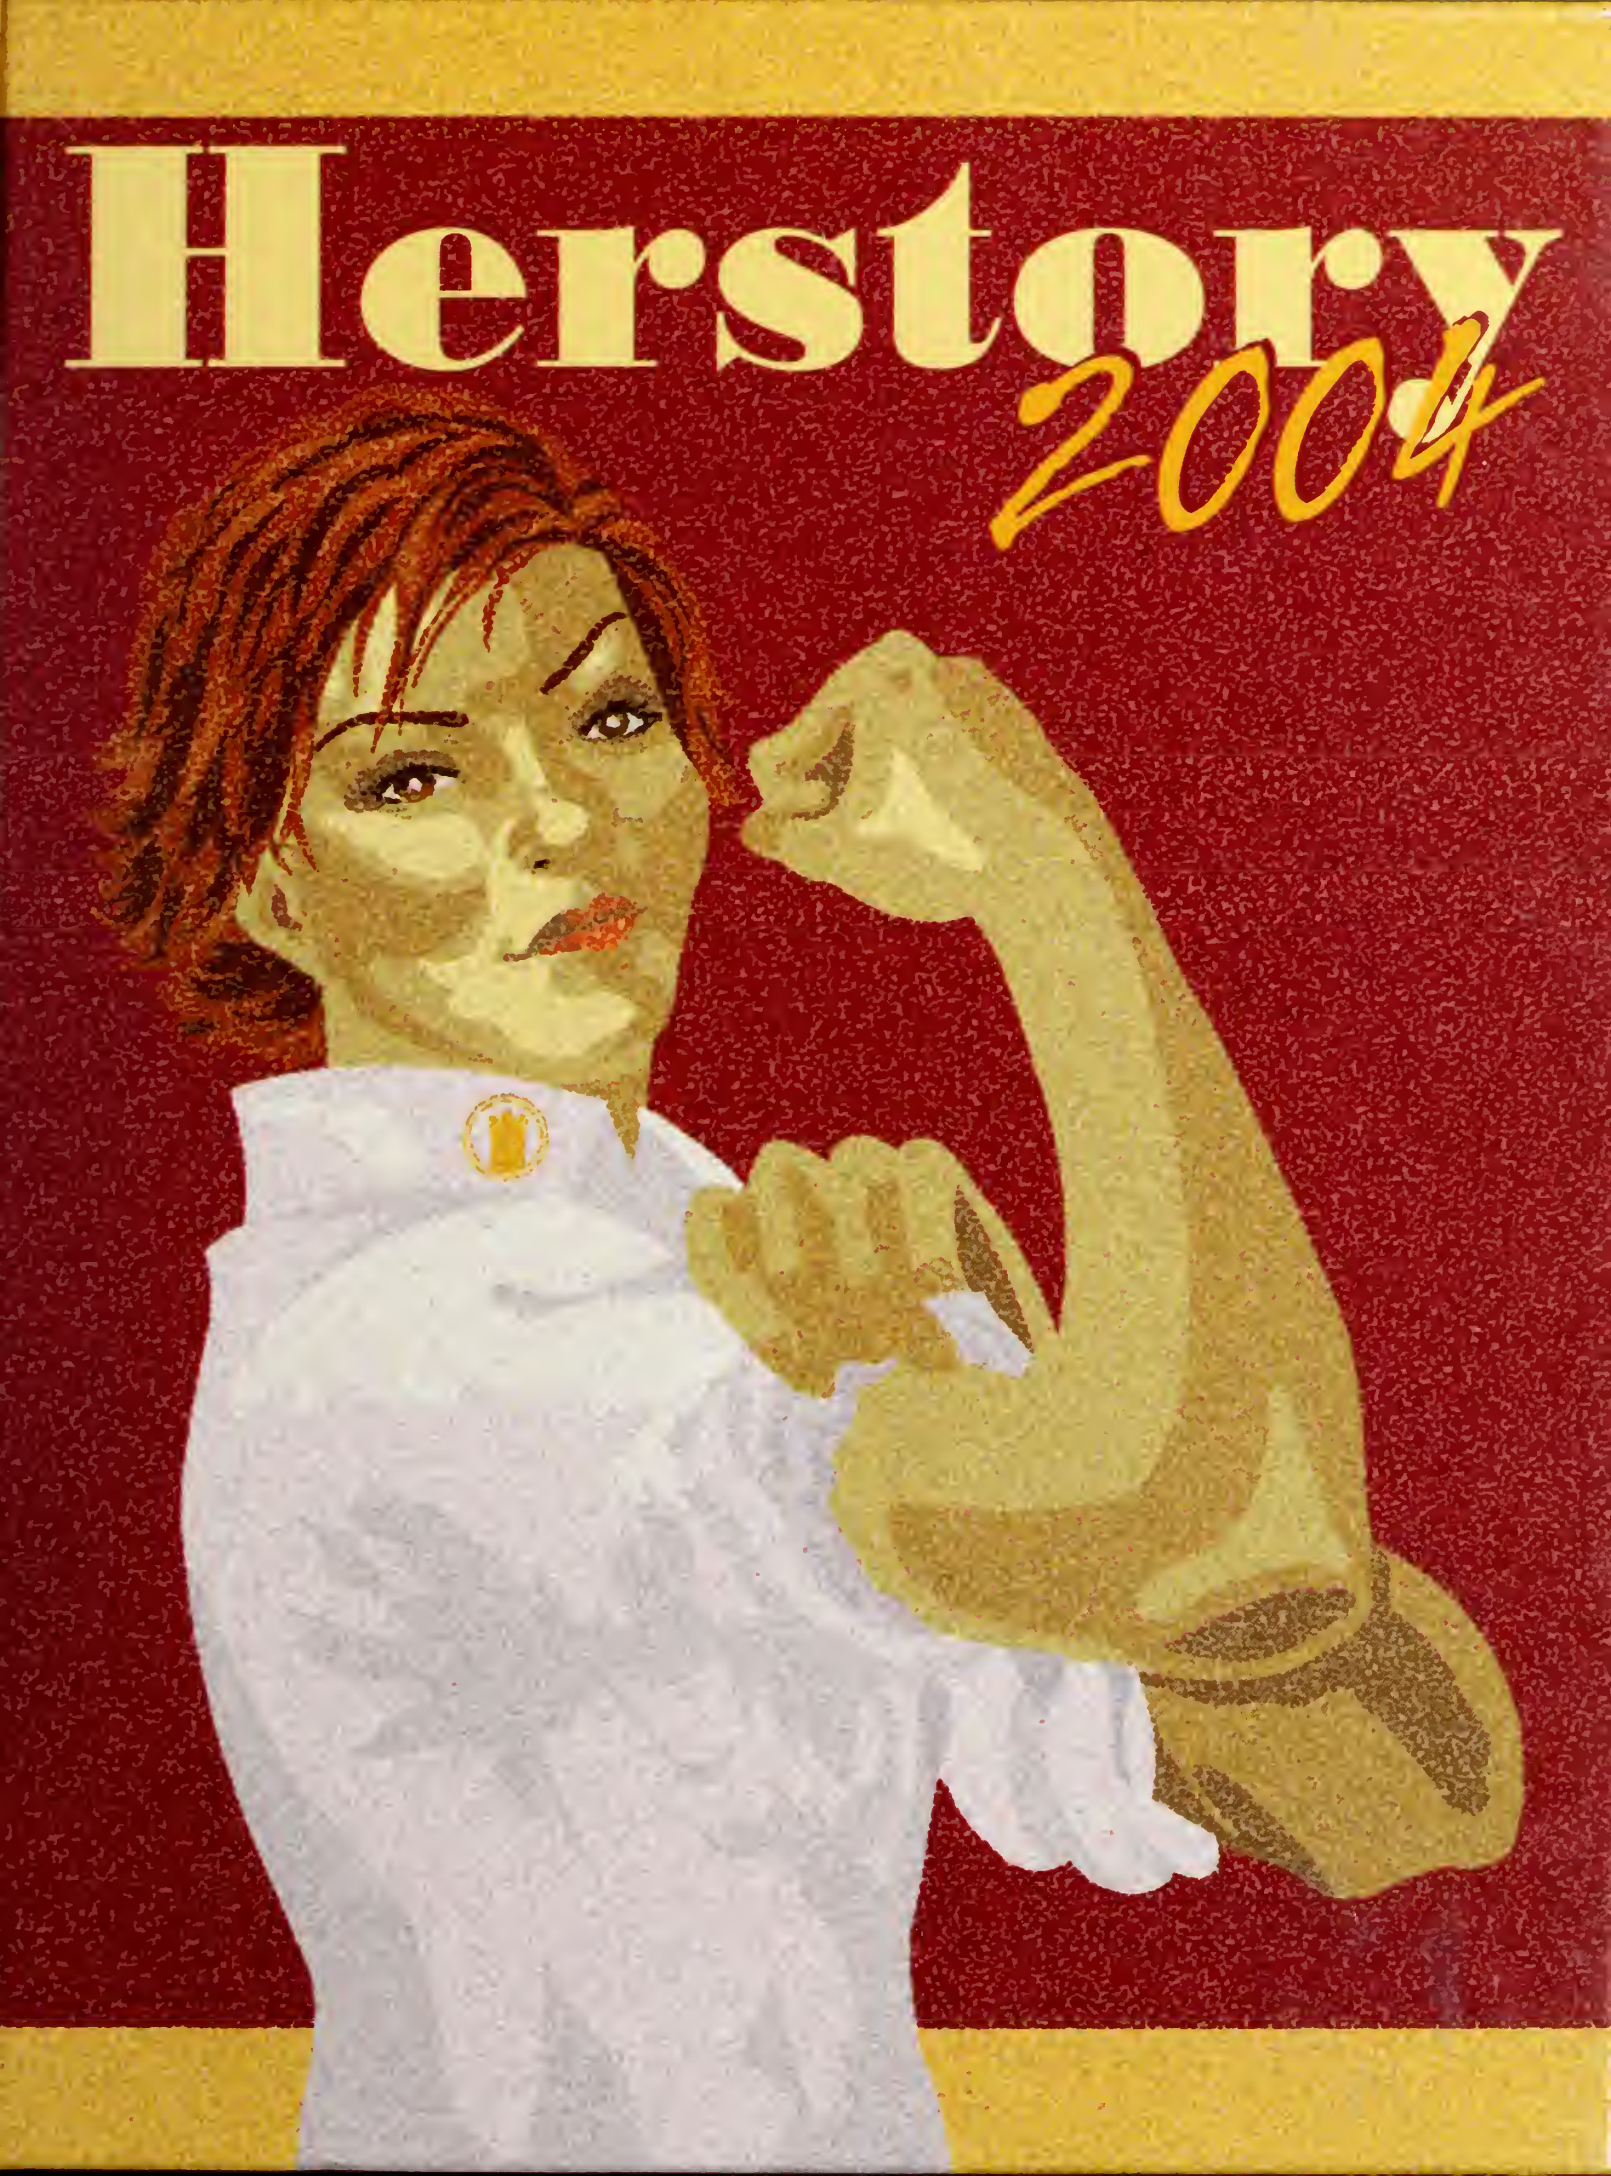
Herstory 2004



REGIS COLLEGE
ARCHIVES

Traditions

17

Senior Portraits

33

Organizations

49

Sports

81

Faces of Regis

97

College Life

105

REGIS COLLEGE
ARCHIVES

Advertisement

129

ARCHIVE

Herstory

2004

Regis College

235 Wellesley Street
Weston, MA 02493
www.regiscollege.edu
781-768-7000

REGIS COLLEGE
ARCHIVES

Description of the theme

Look at me. What do you see? A girl? No. Take a closer look. My sleeves are rolled up, ready to work. My arms are small but strong. My mind is thirsty for the abundance of knowledge that surrounds me. My heart is not seen but felt.

I am aware of the importance of service and charity for the building of strength and unity in a community. And I am dedicated to that community.

Do not look at the color of my skin; it does not matter. I am a plethora of cultures and ethnicities.

I am red like the evening sky that promises a beautiful day. I am gold: precious and priceless. In the wake of change, I grow. In the face of adversity, I am strong. With a modern mind and a traditional soul, I strive to continue the ideals of my sisters before me, through the methods of the ever-changing world that surrounds me.

I am not alone;
I am independent.
I am not a girl.
I am a Regis Woman.

letter from our president. . .

Dear Regis Class of 2004,

History is story. "Herstory" expresses the cultural record of women's contribution to civilization. From the beginning, Regis College has constituted a learning community in which women and their accomplishments thrive. So "sheroes, not only heroes, occupy our narrative of time.

Here is a story of two pillars whose line continues in you. At a time when Catholic women were not allowed into Catholic men's colleges and often excluded from secular universities on the basis of gender, Mother Domitilla Buttimer, CSJ, simply went ahead and built the College in 1927. She saw that the freedom at the heart of a liberal arts education belonged to women, and she kept vigil at the Statehouse in Boston until she obtained an official charter for the first residential Catholic college for women in the Commonwealth. Sister Lucilla Dineen, CSJ, a classicist, made sure the curriculum she fostered as Academic Dean would enable Regis women to know their beautiful minds. The intellects of women did not have to be subjected to the limits of historical constructs of gender. It is truth that is beautiful and good, and a human capacity that longs for participation in it.

Thought, imagination, courage, practice: those who matriculate here absorb this character and take it with them into the world. What a tradition, told in thousands of real lives!

Godspeed. May you inscribe your story in herstory.

President Mary Jane England '59, MD letter from our class president. . .

I am grateful for the opportunity to have served our class as President for the past three years. I feel honored to work with such a diverse, intelligent, and creative group of women.

"A mind stretched by new ideas, will never return to its original dimensions."-Crayola. As members of the Class of 2004, we have experienced this feeling of our minds being stretched to endless possibilities. Our minds have been opened to new horizons through our experience within the classroom and beyond. We are empowered women who must strive for excellence. Throughout these past four years, our class has been extremely integrated with the Regis Community through various clubs and organizations on campus. We have realized that a Regis education means so much more than four years of academic study. It means friendships cherished and bonds established. It extends into our adulthood and serves as a strong cornerstone for us to build another chapter in our lives. May our lives after Regis be overfilled with knowledge, friendship, life-changing experiences, and success.

In the spirit of Crayola, May your minds continue to stretch to unforeseen dimensions! Congratulations to the Class of 2004! I am proud of each of you for your extraordinary achievements and pursuing the challenges that made you even stronger on the way. May God continue to bless you in magnificent ways!

Kaitlynn Malinowski

Dedication

Sisters of Saint Joseph

The class of 2004 dedicates this yearbook to the Sisters of St. Joseph that live and work at Regis College. Without the hard work and dedication of these admirable women, Regis College would not exist as it does today.

These women are always ready with a smile in passing, a word of advice when we are feeling down, and are always willing to lend a helping hand, no matter how full those hands may be.

The Sisters of St. Joseph strive to make Regis hospitable to all. They explore and embrace the needs of our ever changing world and society with dignity and respect. They strive for excellence tempered by gentleness. Most importantly, the Sisters of St. Joseph impress these values on each and every student by teaching and guiding them. These women encourage us to do great things, and help us grow into strong, independent women, Regis Women.

We would like to thank these phenomenal women for all of their guidance, support and dedication to us during our time at Regis. We hope that this yearbook will serve as a token of our thanks and appreciation for the women who continue to make Regis the place that it is today.

Back row (l to r): S. Ann Grady, S. Thea McCabe, S. Marie Cicchese, S. Carmela Abruzzesse, S. Mary Rita Grady, S. Barbara Loud, S. Marie DeSales Dineen

Front Row: S. Margaret McGarry, S. Catherine Meade, S. Julia Ford, S. Eleanor Deady, S. Patricia McDonough, S. Mary Ellen Bettencourt

Absent: S. Rosenda Gill, S. Anna Michael Griffin, S. Therese Higgins, S. Cecilia Agnes Mulrennan, S. Catherine Murphy, S. Mary Oates, S. Jeanne d'arc O'Hare, S. Leila Hogan, S. Judith Costello

Herstory

of Regis College

Regis College was founded on May 27, 1927, when the Commonwealth of Massachusetts granted a charter for Regis College "to confer such degrees as are usually conferred by colleges in this Commonwealth, except medical degrees and degrees of bachelor of laws." The location of Regis College was changed from Newton to Weston right before its opening because the Sisters of Saint Joseph acquired the Morrison Estate in Weston from Mrs. Francine Morrison who later gave Regis College $50,000 in addition to the 168-acre property on the hill.

Regis College was founded by Mother Mary Domitilla who wanted to emulate the life and ambition of Sister Mary Regis. Sister Mary Regis was the first Superior, and became the Reverend Mother and Founder of the Boston Congregation. Sister Mary Regis possessed executive ability, initiative, dauntless courage and foresight, kindly humor, understanding and selfless devotion. These traits enabled her to establish 6 schools in the Archdiocese.

The founders of Regis College never let the ideals or memory of Sister Mary Regis fall to the wayside, and the aims of Regis College exemplify this. Regis College aims to help every student develop her finest potential. Each student is encouraged to acquire broad intellectual interests, engender self-confidence, responsibility and integrity, to assume a right attitude toward public service, neighborliness and devotion to a common welfare, to appreciate her dignity as a loyal daughter of the Catholic Church, to offer a method of discipline by which the student will develop real self-mastery and growth in the Christian character.

Regis College has recently celebrated its 75th anniversary, and during those 75 years, Regis has encouraged women to think in different ways. It has emulated the spirit of Sister Mary Regis, and has given women the opportunity to live and learn in a way Sister Regis would have been proud of.

letter from the editors . . .

It all started in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, when Angela Carpinella and Dominique Salvacion embarked upon the Gettysburg "More" Yearbook Experience. There the two young women learned about the gruesome realities of yearbook: the sleepless nights, lack of food, anxiety attacks and endless amounts of laughter. They then brought their newfound knowledge back with them to Regis College. And the rest is Herstory.

We hope that everyone enjoys this yearbook. A lot of time and energy was put in to make this a fabulous yearbook for the class of 2004. Of course it could not be done without the hard work of our incredible yearbook staff. Thank you to everyone who worked so hard for this publication. Your dedication and effort is greatly appreciated.

Special thanks to: Mary Gay, Ruby Yau, Dana Beguerie, Meghan Beck, Cassie Blondel and Paul Leahy. We would also like to thank Patty Posey and Brian Wallace for being two of the most inspirational people we met in Gettysburg. They were the foundation of the 2004 Yearbook.

On behalf of the Yearbook staff we would like to congratulate the class of 2004. We wish you the best of luck in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Angela Carpinella and Dominique Salvacion
Editors-in-Chief

Faculty & Staff

Dr. Sara Weintraub, S. Ann Grady stand behind their Communications department head Dr. Joan Murray.

Mary Anne Vetterling of the Spanish Department and Ylce Izizarry of the English Department share a laugh at the Latina Celebration.

Dr. Lucia Ortiz of the Spanish Department and Wanda Suriel of Admissions share a smile with the camera.

Dr Ernest Collamati of Religious Studies, also known as Dr. Love, shows students his smooth moves on the dance floor.

Faculty & Staff

Dr. Sheila Prichard, Glee Club Director, gets animated as she leads the chorus in rehearsal.

David Smailes of the Political Science department scratches his head and wonders why he became a professor after reading student papers.

Left to Right: Barbara Loud Math Department, Barbara Dowds Psychology, Anne Powers Biology, Maria Squeff Math and Laurie Kovijanic Computer Science. Smile ladies, this is the yearbook, not a police line up!

Nursing Department—Back row: Marilyn Robertson, Ellen Daly, Mary Smalary, Toni Hays, Nancy Bittner, Maureen Streff and Pat Ciarleglio
Front row: Fran Klempner, Suzy Sawyer and Merrily Crowley.

Center for Professional Studies
Back Row: Janice Swain, S. Carmela Abruzzesse, Dr. Leona McCaughey-Oreszak.

Front Row: Linda Maiaa, S. Judith Costello and Dr. Philip Jutras.

Lucia Ortiz, Spanish Department, Jennifer Morrison, English Department, Student Darlene Ellis, Leona Oreszak, Education and Sarah Barrett, Academic Affairs come together for a little lunch.

Middle Left: David Croll, Chemistry, Kathy Gallang, Chemistry, Barbara Dowds, Psychology, Leslie Bishop, Chemistry, Cristina Squeff, Math, S. Barbara Loud, Math and Mike Billoure of Biology share tier lovely smiles with you.

Bottom: The Publication Office waves goodbye to the seniors. Shown here are Kelly Nedeau, Rosemary Noon, S. Julia Ford, Amelia Auburg, Meghan Beck ('05), Monica Rojas, Elena DeFelice and Paul Leahy.

Faculty & Staff

Angelic smiles from Campus Ministry's S. Rosemary Mulvihil and Maria DiLorenzo.

Social Work Department's Carol Dorr, Mary Ulvich and Anita Collins meet to check out Carol Dorr's new lamp hat. Very stylish.

Physical Plant and Maintenance Staff come together to enjoy Eddie's cooking. Shown here are Jerry Shaffer, Julio Correa, Frank Cashman, Barry Fahey, Arturo Bartesda and Nydia Alzate.

Alumnae Development
Back Row: Candrika Koundinya, Janice Goodrow, Christina Mouyos, Chrstine Corcoran-More, Erica Derouin, Barbara Clancy and Clotilde Zannetos.

Front Row: Andrea Peers, Rachel Tanmenbaum and Miriam Finn-Sherman

"Give us the money!" says Melissa Martin and Joyce DeFazio of the Business Office.

Phyllis Porrell, Presidents Office, Lynn Tripp Coleman, Dean of Students, Maria DiLorenzo and S. Rosemary Mulvihill, Campus Ministry line up for some chow.

Faculty & Staff

Sean Maher, John Burke and Bob Naughton taking a break from keeping the campus safe and distributing all those parking tickets.

Aramark Staff in between meals. Eddie's grill is closed.

Faculty & Staff

Carla Gates, Steven Savas, Grace Gruber and Judy Fitzpatrick from the Controllers Office line up for the conga line.

Jerry Shaffer, Joe Shaugnessy and Barry Fahey take a break from all their busy work of climbing ladders and hanging shades.

Dee Ludwick, Christine Padgett, Janet Casey and Maria Fanelli of Financial Aid stop crunching numbers and putting students into debt long enough for a picture.

Traditions

After the Cap and Gown Ceremony, it was tradition for seniors to wear their gowns to senior seminar and their senior theology class.

"One Regis tradition I enjoy is the opening barbeque. I love the cotton candy, and I get to see friends and everyone else."
–Ruby Yau

"I never really thought about it until we were sitting there on stage, Junior year and across from the stage, in the first couple of rows for Cap and Gown, how much we really worked to get where we are and it really had come very fast."
–Mary Gay

"...The Christmas Banquet...I love the idea behind it...the songs are funny because no one ever gets them right...especially our class last year. That was bad...but it is just a really fun time, probably the first time of the year that you feel really close to everyone in your class..."
–Aileen Zylman

Sophomore traditions

Two of the traditions from our sophomore year that stand out the most are the Christmas Banquet and the Daisy Chain. The Christmas banquet is a tradition that has been going on for years. Sponsored by SGA, this event is an opportunity for the Regis College community to gather in the spirit of unity. Every year, the sophomore class serves the other classes. Wearing white shirts and black pants, every sophomore rushes through the cafeteria at 4:30 pm to prepare the tables and the food. At 6:00 pm, everyone enters the cafeteria, while the sophomores serve the food. After 2 hours of fun and excitement, they stay to clean up while the other classes enjoy the Christmas tree lighting ceremony.

The daisy chain unites the sophomore class during commencement when they hold a daisy chain and join the senior class for the graduation march. By the end of the procession, all seniors have crossed the chain. Both of these events are great ways to bring the Sophomore class together for a little fun.

Can I get you anything else? Melanie Acuña practices her waitressing skills.

Cassie Blondel and Laura Wirth were definitely excited to be at the banquet. Can you feel the excitement in the room?

Lorick Wash, that food looks really good! You can see she is surprised that Aramark cooked it.

Oh it's gorgeous darling. Paula Powers shows her beautiful class ring to Lynn Coleman.

Junior traditions

On October 10, 2002, the class of 2004 gathered in the Fine Arts Center for the annual Junior Ring Ceremony. The auditorium was packed with students' families and friends. First, a multicultural Mass took place in many different tongues. Then the Gospel Choir and Glee Club sang an array of beautiful melodies from various corners of the world. Preceeding the Mass, the Dance Company performed a liturgical dance that captivated a spell bound audience. When the curtains closed ensuing the end of the liturgical dance, Dr. Morrison stepped up to the podium and delivered a mind-stirring speech. Her speech focused on living fully in the moment instead of struggling to push the hands of time into the future. After Dr. Morrison's speech, Dr. Menke took the stage as students lined up to have their class rings blessed. A rainbow of metals and precious stones dazzled the audience as each student had her ring individually blessed. After the blessing of the rings, the Glee Club finished the ceremony with Alma Mater, a song which has been a Regis tradition for many years.

The Dance Company and Maria Dilorenzo of Campus Ministry praise God with the beauty of liturgical dance.

Jen McGlynn shows off her ring with pride to her parents after the ceremony.

Erin Dowd's family smiles after a beautiful ceremony.

Senior Cap & Gown ceremony

Now I'm styling. Kristen Beach accepts her gown.

The Class prays for jobs after graduation.

One of the oldest annual traditions of Regis College is the Senior Cap and Gown Ceremony. Held on September 28, 2003, the seniors of the class of 2004 officially received their caps and gowns that would be worn at commencement the following spring. During this ceremony three seniors were awarded leadership awards in commemoration of their leadership services at Regis College. This year the recipients were Jessica Homer, Kaitlynn Malinowski and Lorena Sestayo. This was then followed by a speech by Dr. Orzak on the history of the Cap and Gown Ceremony and an inspirational speech by Dr. England. Following the two speeches, professors, representing the different departments at Regis College, dressed each senior in her gown, granting her the identity of a true scholar. Once the seniors were dressed in their graduation garbs, they were blessed by Sr. Rosemary. Finally, they walked forth from the auditorium as true scholars, ready to begin their last year at Regis College.

I'm a big girl now! Priscilla King is quite excited to be graduating.

Jess Homer, one of three Leadership Award recipients, smiles at her classmates as she gives her acceptance speech.

Aileen Zylman eagerly accepts her gown. Now she is ready for the real world.

Stephanie Barros, Amy Cadell, Laura Fletcher and Jen Brundige smile for the camera before heading into the Cap and Gown Ceremony.

And they are off! The seniors don't care how silly they look, they just want to win! The seniors race their hoops to see who will reach success in life first.

Hoop Rolling

Megan McBride shows off her artistic talent as she and Krista Blanchard admire her hoop at the Jazz Brunch after the Hoop Rolling Ceremony.

Angelina Mancini and Erin Brennan struggle to decorate a hoop. Whoever thought gluing fabric to a hoop would be so difficult.

Displaying some state pride, Juliet Forte just cannot stop smiling!

The winners of the hoop-rolling ceremony, accompanied by the judges, show off their hoops. Shown are Kerin Gardner, Dr. Morrison, Melanie Acuña, Prof. Ortiz, Kristen Beach, Dr. Wilkins, Priscilla King and Dr. Smailes.

Though the rain forced this year's Hoop Rolling Ceremony to be held in the gym instead of on the campus lawn, the spirit of the Regis seniors could not be stopped. The students raced in separate groups of 15 to 20 students, running in their gowns while trying to keep their hoops from toppling. Faculty judges kept track of the winners, as family and friends cheered for their favorite students. The finalists from each race competed in a last dramatic battle, which was won by Melanie Acuña, who walks knowing that she is now supposed to be the class' most prosperous student.

Do a triple take! Lincy Leon comes from a family of beautiful women.

After the speakers offered a few words about their mothers they decided to take a picture with their mothers and friends. Mary Gay and her mother, Flor Leal and her mother, Mercedes Cardona, Lorena Sestayo, Crystal Simmons, Tenneh Boima, Dominique Salvacion and her mother.

Mother Daughter brunch

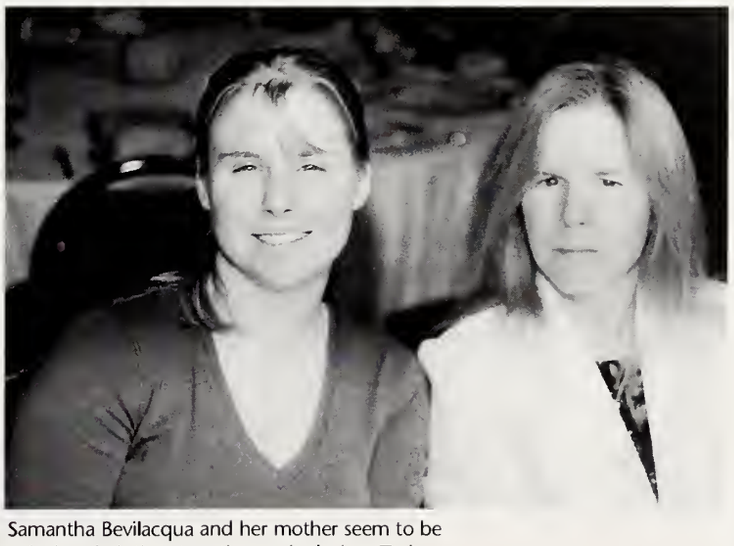
"Mothers around the World" came together to celebrate the awesome bond between mothers and daughters on November 2, 2003. The day was celebrated in the Fine Arts Center at Regis College. The tables were decorated with white linen tablecloths and small pumpkins as centerpieces. It provided the students with an opportunity to spend time with their mothers and other female role models, to bring them closer and to be able to show the ones they look up to how much they appreciate them. Lorena Sestayo, Mary Gay, Tenneh Boima and Dominque Salvacion, members of the class of 2004

Eddy looks like he is enjoying making the eggs for Monica Rojas and her mother. Dominique Salvacion looks happy to be next while Priscilla King is wondering when it is going to be her turn.

Angelina Mancini and her sister Nicole came to the brunch to celebrate with two very important women, their mother and their grandmother.

and Flor Leal, class of 2006, spoke about their mothers from around the world. They spoke about how their mothers have inspired them and how their mothers are more than just support– they are their mentors and best friends. About 200 Regis women and their mothers attended this tradition. The class of 2004 sponsored the event and really wanted to bring together the diversity and different cultures among the students. President of the class of 2004, Kaitlynn Malinowski, thought the idea of incorporating the college's diversity and having students of different cultures talk about their mothers was a wonderful idea. The event was able to show how each mother is different, but in the end they are all the same; mothers will always look out for you and love you.



Samantha Bevilacqua and her mother seem to be enjoying their time together and relaxing. Today they have the opportunity to catch up with each other as they wait to eat.

Latina Celebration

My food is getting cold! Mercedes Cardona, Lorena Sestayo and Amy Mason smile as they sit down for a dinner filled with delicious Latin food.

Unity and friendship are important aspects of the Amigas. Just look at the beaming smiles of these lovely ladies.

Esmely Infante and Solangel Rodriguez smile while giving the introduction for the Latina Celebration, welcoming everyone who came to support the Amigas.

The Amigas gather for a group picture. This has been the largest group of Amigas in all three years that is has been running.

These women sure know how to shake their hips when it comes time to dance.

The Annual Latina Celebration, held by the Amigas, has been a tradition at Regis College for the past three years. It celebrates the beauty and diversity of the Latin culture. With the increase in members, there was an increase in performances as well. This year an introduction was given by Esmely Infante and Solangel Rodriguez. Then the hostesses, Suzy Gomes and Helen Pimentel, lead an array of performances. They were as follows: a poem written and read by Lorena Sestayo and Dominique Salvacion, a personal essay by Mercedes Cardona, a dance performance by Lourdes Canovas, Adalis Perrera, Stephanie O'Ferral, Jessica Lynch, Amy Mason and Dominique Salvacion, and a poem by Yoseni Cabrera. These stellar performances were then followed by the key note speaker, Margarita Muñiz. Muñiz gave a speech on her experiences as a Latina in the United States and her struggle to keep bi-lingual schools in Boston. The show was then followed by a huge feast Latina style with an array of Latin foods.

One of the favorite parts of the Latina Celebration is the food! A plethora of yummy Latin food was made by Yoseni Cabrera's mother.

Christmas banquet

As the class of 2004 stands on stage, they flash the Regis community to show their senior spirit. It's written all over them!

Above: Jess Homer, Lesley Corderio and Stephanie Barros hold their candles and laugh at their friends' inability to sing Christmas carols.

Right: Paula Powers received an Unsung Hero Award, given to seniors who have worked hard throughout the years but have not been recognized. Paula is especially recognized for her community service.

On a very cold December evening, members of the freshmen, junior and senior classes poured into the subtly illuminated dining hall for the annual Christmas Banquet. Continuing with school tradition, the sophomores, uniformed in white shirts and black pants, waited patiently to act as the banquet's servers.

The event began with a welcome from Jess Homer, the president of SGA. She introduced President England to give a few words of holiday inspiration and end-of-the-semester advice. Finally, after a blessing read by senior Monica Rojas, the dinner began.

The class of 2004 is singing between giggles at the words of "Here Comes Graduation." The words didn't quite fit with the beat of the song, but who would have known?

Meghan McBride reviews the song line up for the Candle Lighting Ceremony in the foyer.

Dana Beguerie receives an Unsung Hero Award for her hard work with the organizations of Regis College.

Stephanie Barros, Amy Cadell, Kerin Gardner, Jen Brundige, and Priscilla King sit at the elegantly decorated table and wait for their dinner to be served.

After the meal, each class presented the items in their class stocking and sang their class song. The events in the dining hall culminated with two songs sung a-capella by Regis students. Then the students proceeded to the College Hall Foyer while the seniors were blessed in the Chapel. The seniors then went into the foyer holding candles to join all the classes in singing Christmas carols and watch the candle lighting ceremony.

Snowball semi

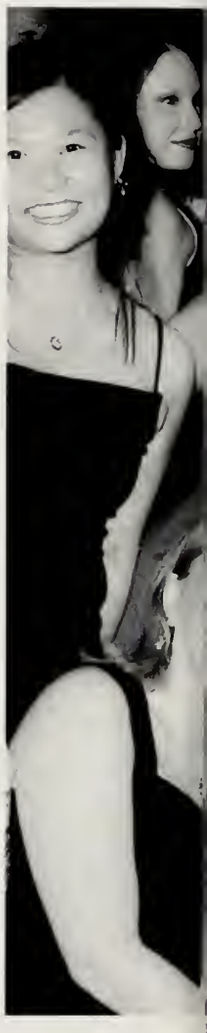
Kara Gilligan doesn't seem so thrilled about Julianne Hansbury hiding in parts of her dress. I wonder how many other people had the same idea.



Mary Gay offers a little leg to her boyfriend and the camera. Looks like they are having fun tonight.

Helen Tse, Laura Wirth and Juliet Forte, this is a dance, not a modeling agency! Get out there and shake your groove thing!

This years Christmas Snowball was just that as snow fell outside that night. Most students recall this event as being totally insane because of the snow. Campus Police was carting students down from the dorms in a shuttle until the shuttle got stuck in the snow, at which time Campus Police began to bring student down in their vehicle. Regis women came down fully equipped with snow boots, and winter jackets. Under the snow gear they were wearing their formal eveningwear. The snow or blizzard did not seem to put a damper on the event. Despite the weather, Regis women and their dates made their way down to Fine Arts Center to find a winter wonderland. There were Christmas lights on the stair railing, stars hanging from the ceiling and a large Christmas tree adorned in lights. The Fine Arts Center atrium was transformed into a dance floor where flocks of people gathered. The event was sponsored by the resident directors who wanted this event to go on despite the weather. You can't have a Snow Ball Dance without the snow; and they had plenty of that!

Where there's a formal dance ,there's smiling Regis ladies. Ruby Yau, Angela Carpinella, Dominique Salvacion, Amy Mason, Priscilla King, Juliet Forte, Kerin Gardner, Dana Beguerie and Jamie Loud ('05) strike a pose the camera.

Gee, Mary Gay, first some leg, now some tongue. I wonder if Helen Tse knew what she was getting into when she decided to be roommates with Mary.

Nicole Hoffman laughs at Erin Giarda's attempt of acting coy for the camera.

Looks like Sean from CP enrolled in some "How to be a player" classes from Troy. Here, he brings 3 dates to the semi: Meghane McBride, Jen McGlynn and Kristen Deveau.

Glee Club concert

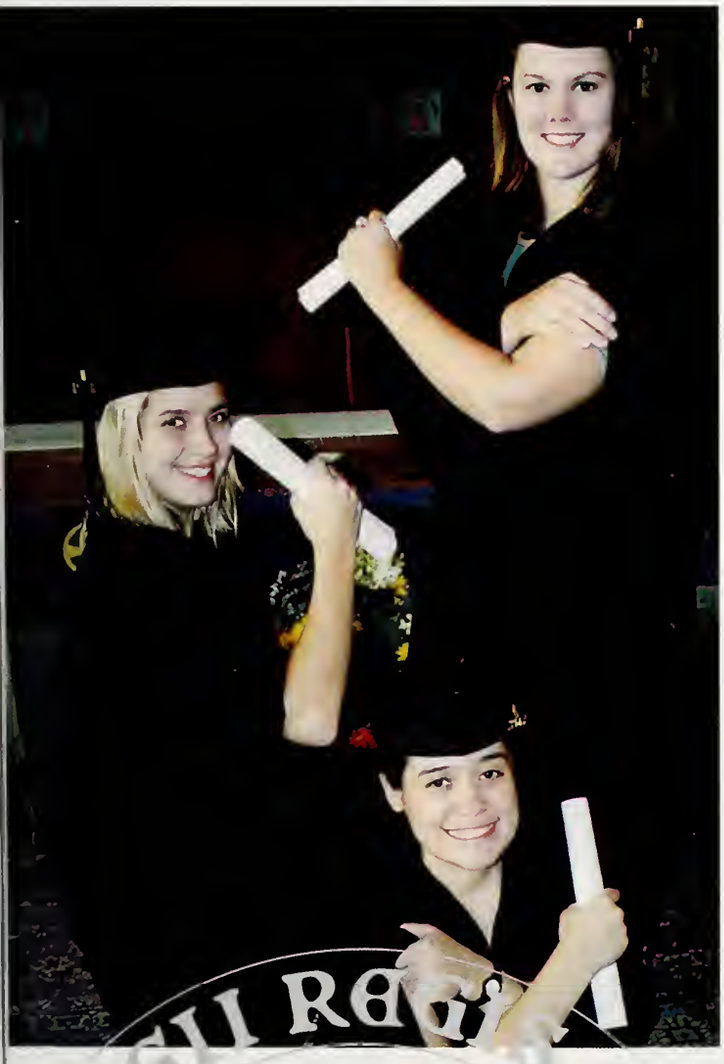
The Glee Club concert was held late due to weather, but lacked none. The theme was Christmas Around the World and featured songs sung in various languages including Spanish and German. The concert also had performances by the Alumnae Choir, the Handbell Choir and the Chamber Singers. As always the concert had a large turnout despite the weather and date change.

The most moving moment came when the lights were dimmed and the singers returned to the stage with candles to sing Silent Night. The audience joined in, and some were moved to tears.

Glee Club Choral officers pose for a picture with Director Sheila Prichard. The officers are April Prucnal, Sarah Rourke, Jane Frank, Laura Pelletier, Heidi Gomez, Nicole Deleso, Deanna Farrah, Mandy Fleming, Jackie Gentile and Michelle Class.

Senior Portraits



In the 1940's, the two most popular majors were home economics and business.

In 1932, the graduating class took their senior portraits wearing their cap and gown, including the hood. There were 36 members in this graduating class.

In 1927, every Sister had her doctorate degree by the time the college opened.

"My most memorable moment was the end of freshman year when my roommate at the time, Erin Dowd and I were eating dinner in the little grassy area in back of the cafeteria by Angela, and a wild turkey walked by us a few feet away. It scared the begeezes out of me!"
–Jen Brundige

When I leave here, I will leave here with a sense of accomplishment, lots of friends, memories and a positive attitude!

–Jessenia Abreu

Jessenia Abreu
Nursing

Melanie A. Acuña
Communication/Political Science

Kimberlee Allain
English

Abigail Allen
Psychology

Alejandra Barreda
Social Work

Ineida Barros
Sociology

Stephanie Barros
English

Kristen Beach
Communication/Political Science

Dana Beguerie
Sociology/Theatre

Jennifer Lee Belliveau
Communication

Krista M. Blanchard
English/Elementary Education

Catherine R. Blondel
History

"I remember walking down the street in Dublin on the Glee Club trip and seeing a porcelain doll fly by me. . .Kaitlynn M. had tripped and landed face down on the concrete."

–Dana Beguerie

My most memorable moment was freshman year during the blackout. We stole ice cream from the cafeteria and sat on a mattress in the hallway and ate it.

–Amy Cadell

Tenneh Boima
Biology

Erin Brennan
Communication

Aroostine Brown
Sociology

Jennifer Brundige
Political Science

Julie E. Burgoyne
Graphic Design

Amy Cadell
Communication/Political Science

Mercedes Cardona
PreMed/Spanish

Angela Carpinella
Graphic Design

Kamille Maria Ann Carthy
Communication

Shauna Cocco
English

Lesley Ann Cordeiro
Management/Communication

Katelyn Cormier
Nursing

My most memorable moment was my second day at Regis. I woke up to snow, and my roommate, Mary, decided to take me on a tour around campus. I almost slipped on black ice because I didn't know how to walk under those conditions. The thing Mary still says is that I was like a child with a new toy.

–Mercedes Cardona

Dr. Weintraub is a professor who will walk with me as a friend throughout my life. I am thankful for the doors she has opened for me.

–Laurie Mantegari

Maria Coughlin
English

Amanda E. DeMeo
Social Work

Marinet Demirciyan
Biology/Pre-Dental

Kristen Deveau
English

Angela Rose Donahue
Communication

Darlene Ellis
English

Moira Elizabeth Finley
Communication/Management

Bobbie Finocchio
Pyschology

Laura C. Fletcher
Psychology

Juliet Forte
Communication

Jussarah Franco
Biology/PreMed

Najmah I. Freeman
Biology

All nighters, always spent with a friend whether it be for school work or out having fun. It's a bonding experience and you always have some crazy story for your other friends the next day.
–Amanda DeMeo

"Whether it's a tough time for me or a good time for me, I occasionally go over in front of the president's house at the stone wall and look over at the road."

–Mary Gay

Kerin Gardner
Theatre

Mary Elizabeth Gay
Sociology

Erin Walker Giarda
International Business

Suzy Gomes
Management

Julianne Hansbury
Social Work

Kaitlin Hartigan
Sociology

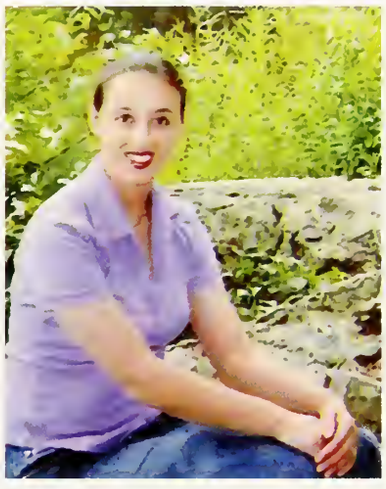
Trina Hill
Communication

Nicole Lynn Hoffman
Social Work

Jessica Homer
Political Science

Amanda Leigh Howard
Biology

Caroline Huie
Education/Math



Colleen Kelley
Biology

My favorite memory of Regis is when Paula and I were singing duets to Tyrece and Da Brat's 'What'chu Like.' We held a performance for the people on our wing.

–Jess Homer

"I will leave Regis with memories of laughter, venting, long nights— long, long nights."

–Helen Kostopulos

Priscilla A. King
Psychology

Helen Kostopulos
Management/Communication

Lincy Eve Leon
Computer Science

Scarlett Leta
Communication

Kimberly Lyder
Nursing

Colleen MacMullin
Sociology

Kaitlynn Malinowski
Communication

Angelina Mancini
Communication

Laurie A. Mantegari
Communication

Amanda Martino
English

Amy Mason
Biology

Molly Mazzarini
English/Elementary Education

"My favorite spot on campus is the dance studio because it's a place where women from all classes can come together and enjoy a common interest, dance!"

–Priscilla King

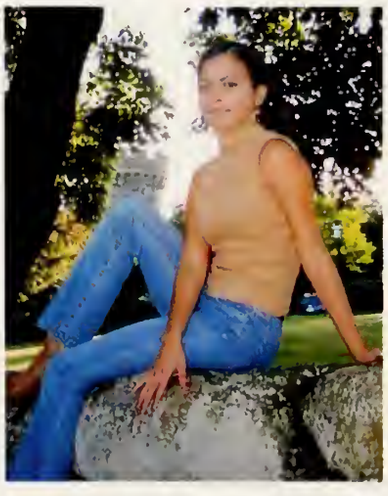
My favorite professor is Dr. Smailes because he is the funniest, kindest professor that any student could ever ask for. He's able to transfer his love for politics to his students.

–Lorick Wash

Meghan McBride
English/Elementary Education

Jennifer McGlynn
Political Science

Camille McNeill
Communication



Ivelisses Molina
Spanish

Emmette Montanez
Communication

Victoria Montgomery
Nursing

Jodia Nesbeth
Management

Jennifer O'Reilly
Sociology

Melissa Oakes
Psychology

Cheryl Oates
History

Tamara Elizabeth Perini
Social Work

Kelly Peterson
English

Cold, wet and roaring with laughter. That's how I was running through the rain in Gettysburg with Angela C. Then we jumped into the fountain—hey we were already drenched!

–Dominique Salvacion

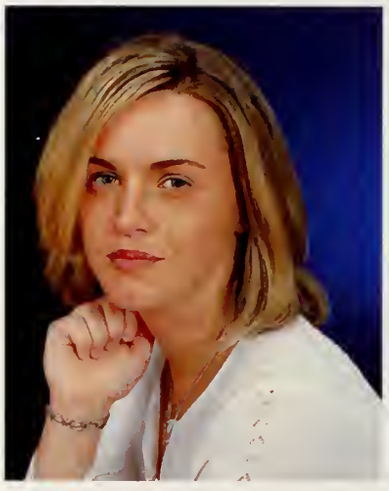
I'll never forget the sleepless nights in the graphic labs bonding with Kat S. and Angela C.

–Monica Rojas

Yokathelin Pimentel
Economics/Communication

Michelle M. Pizzi
Political Science/Sociology

Paula Power
Psychology



Caitlin Powers
Communication/Management

Anasha Prashad
English/Secondary Education

Juliette Renzullo
English

Jennifer R. Rice
Theatre

Monica X. Rojas B.
Graphic Design/Management

Sarah Rourke
Communication

Dominique Salvacion
English/Spanish

Lorena Sestayo
Biology

Kathleen Sicard
Graphic Design

Ana Clarice A. Silva
Economics

Crystal K. Simmons
Management

Elizabeth Marie Smith
Theology/Music

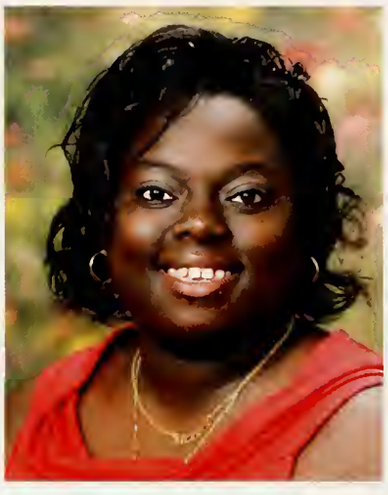
Jacqueline Marie Tressler
Economics

Helen Tse
Nursing

Renee Walters
Biochemistry

Lorick E. Wash
Political Science

Zaranique L. Watson
Communication



Nickema Aliana Williams
Communication

Carla Wilson
Social Work/Sociology

Laura Leahy Wirth
Social Work

Ruby M. Yau
Biology

Aileen Zylman
Museum Studies

Organizations

In 1932 there were 19 student organizations including: the Sacred Heart League, Home Economics Club and the Fire Squad. Now there are more than 25 organizations including: Model U.N., AHANA and the Tower Society.

"[My most memorable moment was] Junior year, being in the Dance Company Show. Its just fun being on stage."–Trina Hill

"I will have the confidence to shoot for the stars, and I know I'm going to get there because I've changed the position of the moon every night. But more than anything, I will take the memories of the people I met here and those friendships that helped me build myself as a person, and shall continue to inspire me and support me and be there when I need them."
–Lorena Sestayo

The lovely members gather at the end of their dinner. They are beaming from the great outcome of the evening.

AAA

The ladies of AAA serve the Regis community at their Thanksgiving dinner Asian style. The food served was cooked by the ladies of AAA themselves!

Tamara Simmons, Amanda Reyes, and Tran Nguyen show that friendship and unity is also an important part of AAA.

Fellow members, Ruby Yau and Yun Aroonlarp, pause while cleaning up after a successful AAA Thanksgiving dinner. This year the ladies worked hard to create a lovely Asian atmosphere in the atrium.

Taking a break. Yen Pham, Thy Pham and YaYoi Takemoto get cozy on the floor and enjoy their hard work.

Asian American Association, otherwise known as AAA, consists of a group of unique young women who hold one thing in common: the eagerness to share their mirage of ethnic backgrounds. AAA welcomes women of all nationalities, and provides a mecca to celebrate the beauty of different Asian cultures as well as a medley of other cultures. AAA hosts many events throughout the academic year, which involve the entire Regis community. Two of their most popular events are the AAA Thanksgiving Dinner and the New Year's Party in celebration of the lunar New Year. "You see a lot of the girls pulling in to help at the dinners, and we get all dressed up. It is very fun!" explains Ruby Yau, one of the public relations representatives.

During the holidays AAA sets up a clothing drive in which all clothing items are sent to family shelters in the Boston area. When Valentine's Day roles around the AAA ladies deliver flowers around campus to make everyone's Valentine's Day a little brighter. Most importantly, AAA creates a bond of sisterhood and friendship among its members that lasts well beyond the college years.

AHANA

The ladies smile before chowing down at dinner together.

The ladies model off their new AHANA sweatshirts that they got for themselves for a job well done in all of their endeavors this past year.

The ladies pose in preparation for their guests at their monthly AHANA TT's.

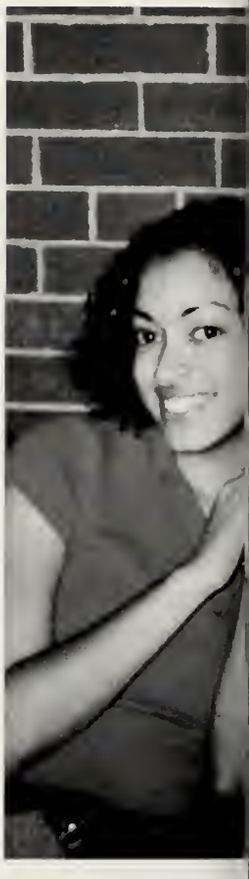
The ladies of AHANA show off their assets at the Spring Semiformal, one of the many events sponsored by AHANA.

AHANA, the African, Hispanic, Asian, Native American club has about 50 members and is the only club on campus that is for students of all ethnic backgrounds. Known in the Regis community for their TTs, AHANA is also involved in the Boston community. AHANA puts on great events that teach about diversity, like the Cultural Enlightenment show, the International Food Festival, and the Diversity Fair. They have also co-sponsored events with the Boston Food Bank and a Blood Drive. Gina Pierre Louis from the class of 2005 says "[AHANA] is pretty big because it is open to all ethnicities. We are a multi cultural group of sisters who come together to plan and organize fundraisers, community services, blood drives, Breakfast with Santa, and so much more." AHANA is a group that has always embraced diversity. With its events it has taught people from other backgrounds about different cultures and ethnicities. The treasurer of AHANA, Akua Afriyie says,"People assume that it is an organization only for blacks, but that is not the case. Everybody is welcome to join because it is about different ethnicities and cultures."

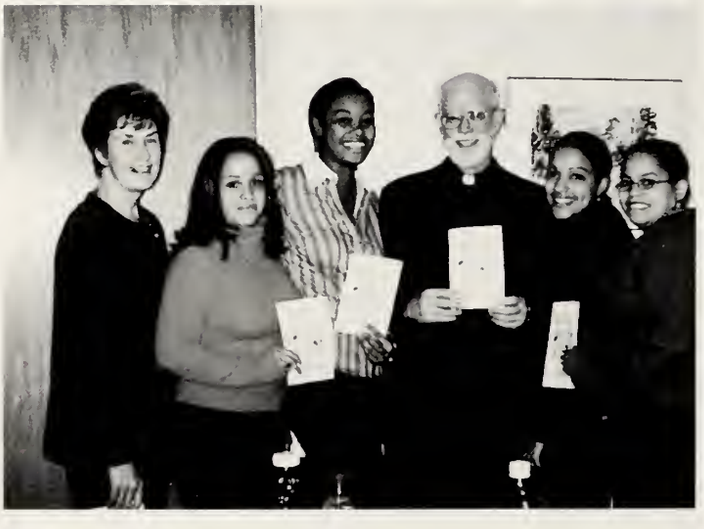
Getting goofy, the ladies act silly at their sleep-over. This provided them with an excellent opportunity to bond with each other.

Amigas

Nicole Downing, Joanne Bodkin, Rakela Lubonja and Avice Perez chill out after a meeting. Even when the meetings are over, the Amigas still want to stay and bond.



Esmely Infante, Jessenia Abreu, Yoseni Cabrera and Solangel Rodriguez celebrate the completion of a successful bi-lingual mass with Sr. Rosemary and Father Paul. The Bi-lingual mass was one of many events the Amigas participated in this year.



One thing the Amigas always remember are birthdays. The celebration of them helps to maintain a more family-like environment. Here they are celebrating both Suzy Gomes' and Helen Pimental's birthdays.

Amigas newcomers enjoy a good laugh. This year Amigas brought in over 20 freshmen, creating the largest amount of Amigas members in its history.

The Amigas gather for a quick group picture after a meeting. A priority for the Amigas is to display that they are exactly what the group's title means "friends."

The Amigas are the latina organization on campus. They have over 40 members which is the largest number of members in the organizations three year history. Dominique Salvacion, Amigas secretary, says the Amigas mission is to "celebrate the beauty of the Latin culture and share it with the Regis Community." The Amigas host a number of events throughout the year, with their biggest event being the Latina Celebration, which is held in November, during National Latin Month. The Celebration features music, dance, poetry and food. The Amigas also put on numerous TT's and work with other cultural clubs on campus to plan events. One of these collaboration events was the bilingual mass. The group plans on holding more TT's, doing more community service projects with the Children's Hospital, including a book drive, magazine drive and making quilts for the children in the hospital.

Top: Amy Cadell and Stephanie Barros model their "Where are you going?" BOP shirts at the Tower Tavern. BOP uses many angles to advertise for their events.

Middle: On the front steps of College Hall, Laura Fletcher, Lorick Wash, Amy Cadell and Stephanie Barros enjoy the beautiful day. These ladies are not only group members but friends as well.

Bottom: Not only do Stephanie Barros, Amy Cadell and Laura Fletcher do a great job as BOP members, but they are also good at smiling for the camera.

BOP, the Board of Programmers, is lead by the two co-chairs, Laura Fletcher and Amy Cadell, the secretary Stephanie Barros and the treasurer Jamie Troville. It is made up of a group of dedicated women ready to supply an array of fun events for the Regis College Community.

"We had a successful semester," say Kara Gilligan, class 2005, and a member of BOP. And indeed it was. This year BOP held a number of successful events to help bring the Regis community together. Among these programs were java jives, a Boston cruise trip, an Ocktoberfest and a Women of Comedy Night. Perhaps one of the most memorable events thrown by BOP was a concert performed by Stephen Kellogg. What made this performance so special was that it was held during a blackout due to a windstorm in October. Hence the student body gathered in the Lower Student Union and watched Stephen Kellogg play acoustic style. And this was only during the first semester!

B.O.P.

Laura Fletcher, Amy Cadell, Lorick Wash and Cate Howley relax in front of College Hall while discussing their next BOP event. You don't have to be a lifeguard to work and get some sun at the same time.

Jen Brundige, Amy Cadell, Stephanie Barros and Laura Fletcher bond on the Harbor Cruise that BOP organized in September 2003. BOP has organized a number of different fun events for the Regis Students to enjoy.

Campus Ministry

Looks like Nicole Kanelos and Elizabeth Smith, are confusing the paint with makeup. Campus Ministry went down to West Virginia over Spring Break for the Habitat for Humanity program.

Monica Rojas helps repaint North Cambridge Catholic, her high school, for Service Day. Service day is a way to get the Regis Students involved in community outreach.

The Campus Ministry always does great things and this year was no exception. The members of the executive board were Elizabeth Smith, Monica Rojas, Jackie Gentile, Nicole Kanelos, Laurie Mantegari, Emily Green, Kaitlynn Malinowski and Nikki Internicola. These students united to continue Campus Ministry's tradition of community service by participating in the Walk for Breast Cancer in October and visiting Casserly House in Brighton. They also promoted several on campus events and programs, including retreats and the weekly Sunday Masses in the College Hall Chapel. Throughout the year, their presence was felt strongly on and off campus as they tried to unite everyone on campus in order to keep the Regis community alive.

Regis ladies paint the stairwell of North Cambridge Catholic on Service Day.

At the end of the year the underclassmen mock the senior members of the group. What a lovely way to say farewell.

Monica Rojas and Elizabeth Smith give the camera an evil eye for interrupting the meeting, while Laurie Mantegari seems thrilled!

CVSA

Secretary Amanda Howard and President Lincy Leon show some love during CVSA bonding.

CVSA, the Cape Verde Student Association was established two years ago, and it is still growing. It's current president is senior Lincy Leon. CVSA runs programs such as Maintenance Appreciation Day, TT's, a Valentine's Social, and a big Cape Verde celebration in April. CVSA also finds community service to be of the upmost importance, which is why they do volunteer work at Sunrise Assisted Living. As well, they work on the annual Breakfast with Santa, with AHANA. One of the great things about this organization is that one does not have to be from Cape Verde to be a part of it. CVSA has members from an array of cultures who possess a passion for learning more about the culture, and also members who want to teach others about it.

You would never know that it was Avice Pires, Rakela Lubonja, Siobhan Gordan and Lincy Leon's first party by the smiles on their faces. They are ready to show you how to have a good time!

Rakela Lubonja, Julie Eche, Lincy Leon and Amanda Howard take a break from the 2nd annual Maintenance Appreciation Day to sit and relax.

Showing some leg and support for another group's TT, Avice Pires, Connie Pires and Lincy Leon know how to get some attention!

Lincy Leon and Soiobhan Gordon can't wait to let loose at CVSA's first TT.

Abby Allen and Lourdes Canovas stretch out before dance at the bar. Both ladies have been dancing for years, and have brought a variety of talent to the Dance Company.

The choreographers teach the ladies of the Dance Company how to get down to Christina Aguilera, Dirrty.

Dance Company

Katelyn Cormier, Renee Walters, Shannon Harris, Laura Fletcher and Priscilla King are ecstatic about their stellar opening for the 2002 show. It had a techno feel, and the dancers dressed in black with glow tape on them, so when the lights went out, the result was a mesmerizing performance.

Katelyn Cormier, Kaitlynn Malinowski and Priscilla King are all set to go cool off in the rain after their tap number for the 2002 Dance Company show.

Priscilla King shows off her talent both as a choreographer and a dancer with the Footloose tap number in 2003. This number had the crowd going wild.

Nicole Collette, Laura Pelletier, Yun Aroonlarp, Abby Allain, Deanna Farrah and Dominique Salvacion rest in the green room in between numbers. A lot of memories were made in that green room.

The Regis College Dance Company offers an opportunity for the Regis women "to be all that she can be!" This year, the Dance Company was run by Priscilla King, Katrina Hill, Kerrin Adams and Kate Nicholson, who worked hard throughout the year to achieve the goal of promoting potential and confidence within the Dance Company's membership. The finishing touch has always been the Company's March performance, which has been one of the campus' most anticipate events since the first Dance Company performance five years ago. A lot of time and effort goes into that moment, since the company members practice every week to get their moves down. When they get on the stage in March, their hard work is always evident and greatly appreciated by the cheering crowd!

Glee Club

Samantha Gardner, Amanda Howard, Kaitlynn Malinowski and Dana Beguerie are enjoying the beautiful seashores of Ireland during the Ireland 2002 Tour.

Dr. Prichard and Laura Pelletier put on their witchiness for Halloween. Even witches can sing!

The Glee Club consisted of 48 members. It is led by ten officers consisting of Nikki Dileso '05 as president, Heidi Gomez '06 as vice president, Deanna Farrah '06 as secretary, Sarah Stauton '05 as treasurer, Mandy Flemming '05 as social chair, Jackie Gentile '06 as librarian, Jane Frink '06 as librarian, April Prucnal '06 as librarian, Laura Pelletier '06 as wardrobe, and Michelle Class '05 as wardrobe. This fabulous group of women sang at many different events such as the Senior Cap and Gown Ceremony and the Ring Ceremony. They also held their own holiday concert, Christmas Around the World.

Mandy Fleming reflects on the Glee Club experience this year, "Glee Club is a commitment to create and sing beautiful and challenging music. It's an endeavor to be an ambassador of song, soul and spirit. Music is often referred to as the median that connects the soul to the Earth. It is a powerful force that elevates the soul and guides it to peace. Glee Club affords the participants the opportunity to be the source that ushers in this force. It often takes a lot of time and commitment but the result is well worth the journey. This year the Glee Club will be traveling to England and Scotland with the intention of spreading the light and power of song."

Adding to the day's enchantment, Nikki Internicola and Emily Hall sing with Dr. Prichard at the junior ring ceremony.

Perhaps Ireland is getting to Mandy Martino's head as she keeps Elizabeth Smith in a headlock.

Maria Couglin, Amy Cadell and Jen Dowd are proud of a job well done at the Glee Club concert.

Bonnie Woolfrey ('05) helps Beth Kaleta ('07) pick her classes before the beginning of the fall semester.

Nikki Williams, Stephanie Barros, Laura Fletcher and Bonnie Woolfry take a break from assisting the incoming first years in getting acquainted with Regis.

The Orientation Leaders are a group of women on the Regis College campus that work to make the transition from high school to college easier for the incoming first year students. The orientation leaders design the orientation program so it includes fun and education, and allows first-year students to mingle with others to make friends. Orientation Leaders are most active during the first week of school when students are arriving on campus.

Being an Orientation Leader provides both the Leaders and the incoming students with a positive experience. The Orientation Leaders have a strong bond with each other, and it also allows them to form bonds and friendships with the incoming class. Lorick Wash says that "Being an orientation leader taught me that one familiar face, one kind word, or even a gesture can make a huge difference in one individuals experience." The Orientation Leaders strive to give all first-year students a good experience and a good time.

Orientation Leaders

Right: Move over Eddy, Nikki Williams and Stephanie Barros are taking over the grill!

Middle: Laura Fletcher and Lorick Wash bond and remember the days when they were the ones attending orientation. Now they are the leaders!

Top: Doing a little dance, Kiki Gilligan and Julie Renzullo show the freshman how to have a good time Regis style.

Before working with the freshmen, Stephanie Barros, Laura Fletcher, Sharon Burchfield, Nikki Internicola and Mary Gay go out for some good wholesome fun and some intense minigolf!

Laura Wirth and Cassie Blondel hang in the Park Plaza hotel for the Model UN conference.

Model UN

Cassie Blondel and Jessica Tartel, concerned with the politics of the world, enjoy their conference.

Model UN is a student run organization that deals with current political issues and the government in a larger setting. This year senior Cassie Blondel is the group leader. Each year the Model UN from Regis goes to a conference. Every school is given a country, and this year, Regis is Cape Verde. The students are responsible for researching everything about their particular country. The group is then split into committees, just like the real UN. The students debate, and by the end of the conference, a resolution must be passed.

This year, Model UN did not hold any on campus events, but they have in the past and are considering some for next year. Rachel Valente, a sophomore, says that participating in Model UN has been a "good experience" and that it has allowed her to "meet a lot of politically active students."

Natalia Cybulski, Roxanne Griffin and Laura Wirth stop at Dick's Last Resort in Boston, while in the city for the Model UN Conference.

Top: Some of the ladies of the choir stop and smile after their extravaganza. Right after this they are going to head up to the foyer of College Hall to celebrate the performance with food and socializing.

Middle: Jodia Nesbeth and Akua Afriyie sing as they lead the offering at the Gospel Extravaganza. This offering was different from others, the choir requested that everyone come up and be blessed, even if one had no money to offer.

Bottom: Jodia Nesbeth, Julie Eche, Mercedes Cardona and Sioban Gordan relish in the success of their Gospel Extravaganza. This year the ladies performed an array of songs praising the Lord.

Gospel Choir

One of the groups on campus that has worked hard to help the Regis community grow spiritually is the Gospel Choir. The Choir consists of 12 Regis College students and Linda, the coordinator, who meet every Monday for 1 to 2 hours. They praise the Lord, and encourage others to do the same, through their gifts of singing and worship. They are a close group that brings the Regis community together once a semester with the Gospel Choir Extravaganza. They have also managed to revive WOW (Women Of Worship). This group is lead by Sister Sabrina and it is held the first and third Sunday of every month. Their great voices are also heard on events like the Christmas sing-along and the Cultural Enlightenment show. Kay-K has been a member of the gospel choir for 2 years. One of her most cherished memories is "seeing the joy on the members' faces when we sing at concerts and practices." It is this involvement that has made Tenneh Boima, a senior, "a good leader and has improved my ability to work efficiently and accurately. These are experiences I will never trade for anything in the world."

SGA

Kara Gilligan and Susan Wally are working hard to make decisions for the campus.

Dana Beguerie demonstrates to the rest of SGA that SGA is full of fun and games.

Student Government Association, also known as SGA, acts as the main mediator between the student body and faculty. This phenomenal group of young women is led by President Jessica Homer, Vice President Lesley Cordeiro, Treasurer Yokathelin Pimentel, Secretary Susan Walley, Coordinating Vice President Kaitlynn Damon and Multicultural Coordinator Melanie Acuña. SGA constantly strives to make Regis College a place we can call home and enjoy good times with friends. One of the most recent projects SGA has conquered was revenovating the Lower Student Union. SGA put tremendous effort into bringing an arcade and cyber café into the LSU so students could unwind after a busy day.

Jessica Homer President of SGA explains "SGA has been a wonderful experience for me. I've gained leadership abilities, and it gave me more opportunities to connect with different people. The job can be overwhelming, but I enjoy this place and I like being able to get things done not because I have to."

Susan Walley refuses to pose with Nora Gross and Kara Gilligan. How rude!!

Cassie Blondel tries to "knock" some sense into Dana Beguerie. Unfortunately, it didn't work.

Being on SGA as a freshman is so scary that Katie McClendon hide under her hat while Elizabeth Clifford just looks on.

Senior caucus members Dana Beguerie and Cassie Blondel declare, "We love Nora"

Kara Gilligan and Susan Wally are working hard to promote "Sex Rules."

Theatre Company

Hey I thought this play was How I learned to Drive, not Charlie's Angels! Nikki DiLeso looks like she is on the prowl.

Oops! Did we wear the wrong costumes? On Halloween, the cast showed up to rehearsal in their Halloween costumes.

The Regis College Theater Company is a group of dedicated students who put on numerous plays at Regis College. The Theater Company is directed by Frans Rijnbout. Each semester the students preform at least one play. In the fall of 2003 the Theater Company put on How I Learned to Drive by Paula Vogel.

The play in the fall of 2003 was a choice Frans made based on many factors. The play dealt with sexual and spiritual awakening of a young woman who learns how to deal with life. "The reason I chose this play is because of its topic—the breaking of trust, the sexual abuse of a vulnerable person by an authority figure, and the complexity of the issue," Frans said "I have a special responsibility, as a director and as a teacher, to make sure my actor-students are comfortable with the material and how I approach the casting process."

Elizabeth Smith seems to be more interested in her pigtails then the conversation.

The cast of How I Learned to Drive get into character. The cast consisted of Michael Deminico, Corey Jackson, Elizabeth Smith, Jen Corbo, Jesica Corbo, Kerin Gardner, Deana Farrah '06, Kathryn Bloomquist '05 and Heather Bonin '05.

Frans Rinjbout and Michael Deminico chill out in the green room after a rehearsal.

Kerin Gardner plays little Susie home-maker as she sew up a costume for the play.

RA Staff

Breaker 1-9, this is Dana Beguerie. I'm calling in becuase I can't deal with my residents. I need backup. 10-4 over and out.

The Regis College Resident Life Staff is responsible for maintaining the peace in the dorms. The staff this year consists of 3 Resident Directors and 15 Resident Assistants. The RA's plan many fun-filled programs for their residents as well as the student body. The RA staff is responsible for the winter Snowball, SAVE week, and Bingo. They provide positive role-modeling for the underclassmen, guidance, as well as regulation of the policies of Regis.

Dominique Salvacion, RA of the third floor of Angela Hall says that being an RA has "forced her to become more of a mature individual, knowing that I have to set an example for my residents. I have met a plethora of fabulous people through this job."

Writing up one of her residents brings Dominique Salvacion to tears.

RA's Amy Cadell (CH), Dominique Salvacion (AH), Lauren Pullia (CH), Cate Howley (CH), Ryan Carney (AH), Erin Gettens (AH), Dana Beguerie (MH), Sara Valella (AH), and Jess Homer (MH).

Karyn Lessard gets her face painted by a student for "Dress your RA day". And we thought she was scary when we were breaking quiet hours.

The Angela Hall RA's get a little goofy at the RA Staff meeting. Shown here are Karyn Lessard RD, Ryan Carney, Erin Gettens, Bonnie Woolfrey, Lorick Wash, Sara Vellela and Connie Pires.

Tower society

Laurie Mantegari and Nikki Internicola are working together for a greater cause.

The Tower Society, the Regis College ambassador program, united this year, as every year, to entice new students to attend Regis. The students, who share their knowledge of Regis and their experiences at the school, with potential students, hope to have a big impact on the future of Regis. They donate their spare time, even on the weekends, to attend open houses and other Admissions events to promote the school. Some of the students on the Tower Society also give tours of the campus to potential students. Every year, as the freshman class gets larger, it is clear that the Tower Society is doing an excellent job.

Kaitlynn Damon hopes that Bonnie Woolfrey moves faster so she can get to the ice cream.

Tower Society joins other schools under the Regis banner at the Relay for Life.

The Tower Society is huddling together trying to stay warm at the Relay.

WRGS

Aileen Zylman and Michelle Class are doing the dj thing.

Stephanie Larocque and her boyfriend are working on their talk show.

WRGS is showing that AI and Regis can work together in harmony.

WRGS is the Regis College radio station. It is an open format radio station that had nearly 60 DJ's in the 2003-2004 academic year—the most successful year in the stations history. All students, both Regis and AI are encouraged to host a show, making the station home to a wide variety of programming, including sports, rap, techno, rock and talk.

Station managers are Aileen Zylman a senior, and Michelle Class, a junior. The station managers are elected officials that run the radio station, and decide on programming and events that the radio station can sponsor.

The members of WRGS stand united for a picture.

Aileen Zylman and Michelle Class make radio work look easy.

WRGS hosts events throughout the year. The DJ's provide their services free during spring weekend, and WRGS has also hosted a local bands showcase, to bring attention to bands in the Boston area.

"Being a station manager at WRGS allows me to meet so many great people from both Regis and Ai. The different shows have opened me to new music styles and have livened up the student union. It's so great to come to the cafeteria and hear music, it energizes you" says Michelle Class

ReCON

Top: Angelina Mancini, Dominique Salvacion, Angela Donohue and Mercedes Cardona pose behind their editor-in-chief Lorena Sestayo.

Bottom: Angela Donohue looks over Angelina Mancini's shoulder as Angelina edits an article. It must be something entertaining.

Dominique Salvacion lets it all hang out as she reviews an article. Who said it wasn't polite to sit like a man?

In the 2003-04 school year, Lorena Setsayo, editor of the Regis ReCon, looked forward to bringing the paper into print. The ReCon has been an online newspaper since it was started in 2000 by Ameila Aubourg. Amelia organized a group to restart the paper, as she was "heartbroken" that Regis did not have a student newspaper.

Currently there are five editors and eight to ten reporters. Lorena Setsayo was very excited about bringing the newspaper to print."It is three years of sweat and blood coming together into a beautiful black and white piece of paper that embodies the passion of a select group at Regis. I am proud that we have come this far."

Sports

Regis began competitive sports in the late 1940's, two decades before most colleges started intercollegiate programs.

The class of 1951 donated permanent basketball hoops for the gym. Before that they used the dance studio. Basketball and Volleyball teams used the old gym in College Hall, which is now the dance studio.

During the 1948–1949 academic year the basketball team was founded. Cross-country, swimming, soccer and diving were not added to the Regis sports list until the 1980's.

"I think the women athletes are amazing women in that they do it all. They are able to spend hours at practices and games and still maintain their grades. You never hear athletes complain about being too busy."
–Juliet Forte

Tennis

Top Left: The team listens as the coach gives them a pep talk.

Bottom: Team captain, Stefanie McElligott, shows the girls how it's done on the court.

The tennis team had a highly sucessful season in 2003. Lead by team captain Stefanie McElligott, a junior, and coach Roberta Daniele the tennis team made their way to the Commonwealth Coast Conference semi-finals. Much of the teams success can be attributed to the seven first year students who joined the team this year, as the only returning student for the 2003 season was Stefanie McElligott.

The team finished the season with a record of 10-6-1, 6-3 in the Commonwealth Coast Conference. In the teams first round of competition, the Pride took on the Chargers of Colby Sawyer College. The Pride won 5-4, putting them in the semi-finals. However, the pride fell to the Seahawks of Salve Regina University with a final score of 8-1.

Crew

The Regis College Crew team came back in the fall after coming off a season-ending high last year, finishing 9th out of 17 overall in the New England Championships. Regis faced many higher ranked schools including the Massachusetts Maritime Academy, who Regis defeated in the Petit Finals.

The Crew team has undergone many changes over the past few years. This year the team returns to competition with a new coach and Captain Julie Burgoyne, a senior.

Ryan Carney, Lauren Tetrault, Julie Burgoyne and Anne Heick loosen up their muscles on the water early in the morning. The crew team practices several times a week at dawn. That's very impressive, especially for college students.

Field Hockey

Sara fights for the ball. Sara is part of three sets of twins that joined the freshmen class this year.

Season Stats

Wins: 9
Losses: 9
Ties: 3

The energy on and off the field proved to be a benefit for the Field Hockey team with a record of 9-9-3, and 4-3 in the Commonwealth Coast Conference. The team was a major competitor in the conference. Team spirit can be credited to why the team did so well. "We win and lose as a team," says Caitlin Connolly, one of the team captains. Each player was vital in achieving the goal of playing in the conference tournament. The bond among the team is unbelievable. Captain Judy Solar thought the team was strong and well matched against

Right: Anna Maria is not going to be able to catch this quick player as Kim Luciani runs down the field to score.

Middle: Cate Connelly shows her skill as she receives a pass.

Bottom: Showing some aggressive force, Judy Solar goes for the kill as she fights for the ball.

opponents, such as Salve Regina, Gordon College, Endicott College and Anna Maria College. Judy thought the team was very close-knit. She credits this to the team's support of each other and their coach and mentor Heather Gilmour, as well as assistant coach Aimee Sharrow. The Field Hockey team hosted the 1st round of the conference tournament. This was the first time the Pride hosted a tournament. Coach Gilmour felt that this season was one of the best seasons in Regis Field Hockey history, Coach Gilmour said, "...the team has grown over the past year and they were all very committed."

Soccer

On her guard, Amanda Cordiero gets ready to block the goal.

Behind the leadership of senior co-captains Julie Eche and Trina Hill, the Regis College Soccer program underwent a significant growth period in its first rebuilding phase this past fall. Despite a number of injuries and lack of depth, the Pride displayed stoic character in the face of adversity. They finished the season 2-16 thanks to an incredible overtime victory on the road in its last march of the year, a very young team looks poised for the future.

Right: Sometimes a pep-talk from a teammate is all a player needs. Trina Hill gives a fellow teammate Kelly Marren some encouragement.

Middle: Ouch! Those soccer ladies sure are tough! Just look at Kathy Onasayna block the ball with her head!

Bottom: You have to be a tough woman to take a hit like that! Katie Horan makes a chest pass while being checked by an opponent.

Next season, Regis will return 9 starters, including 2003 leading scorer freshman midfielder Katelyn Dennis, and All-Conference selection freshman defender Kate Daley. The Pride will also see the return of sophomore redshirt Megan Powell afer undergoing knee surgery and 2002 leading point scorer Nicole Messuri, who returns after recovering from a season-ending illness.

Season Stats

Wins: 13
Losses: 17

Volleyball

Top Left: The team warms up before a tough practice. The volleyball team is known for their late night practices.

Top Right: Stephanie O'Ferral leans to grab the ball. Hustle, girl! Hustle!

A sport that has broken records this year is volleyball. Starting the season with a new coach, Kelly Murphy, this group of 11 women has surpassed their limits in all ways. They practice approximately 20 to 25 hours a week. Their secret for being successful is trust and teamwork. Every one of the players works towards one common goal, which has empowered the team. Caitlin Powers, an outside hitter, is a Senior and has been involved in Volleyball for four years. She has seen the changes made within the team, which has helped them break records.

Something she will always cherish is "breaking the volleyball record, going 500 for the season and the new Coach." Last year's record was 4-21. This year they finished 13-17 in the overall and 3-6 in the C.C.C. This is a great team of women who have learned the meaning of teamwork and embrace it to make this team succeed this year.

Top Left: Lincy Leon and Natalia Cybulski laugh as one of their fellow team members goofs off. You can still have fun while training!

Right: Caitlin Powers passes the ball during a drill. These ladies really worked hard this season and it sure paid off.

Basketball

Top: Trina Hill practices her lay-up before a game against Curry College.

Middle: Erin Campbell, Colleen Hill, Melissa Gonzalez, Caitie Connolly and Carolyn Cox take a rest and watch their team on the court.

Bottom: Reaching in, Caitie Connolly and Carolyn Cox fight to claim the ball for their team.

The spirit on the court is what has made the Regis College Basketball team such a vibrant entity. The energy and the screams of support have really provided all the players with the ability to work hard to win. The head coach Anthony Staffiere has been with the team for 2 seasons and Assistant Coach, Shaun Russell joined the team this year. They both have put a lot of time into making the team work together. The team has three Captains, Caitlin Connolly a Junior, and sophomores Erin Campbell and Melissa Gonzalez. The captains have provided the team with a strong sense of leadership and the ability to push ahead even during the loses. The team's record as of 1-30-04 is 5 wins 11 loses. Head Coach Tony Staffiere said, "We (the team) are still young but the improvement has been remarkable." The team may have a chance to make it to the post-season tournament. The current members of the team plan to return for the 2004-2005 season with new recruits, however, senior Trina Hill will not return but she will be greatly missed. Head Coach Tony Staffiere and the other members of the basketball team look forward to the upcoming season. Head Coach Tony said, "I am looking forward to the 2004-05 season being the year we restore the Pride back in Regis Basketball." The team is certainly working hard this season to make this goal achievable next season.

Caite Connolly and Carolyn Cox are ready to block a rebound. Defense is just as important as offense in basketball.

Oh Yeah! Erin Campbell and Danielle Doherty show their excitement after winning the game against Curry.

The ladies gather for their pre-game ritual. This is essential for them as it helps to instill the Regis spirit in them for the game.

Swimming and diving

Top: Scarlett Leta stops to smile as she turns on a practice lap. Practice makes perfect!

Bottom: Deep concentration is essential to nailing a dive. Katie Horan focuses on the dive she is about to make.

Sara Bonaface ('07) one of the top team performers reaches for the wall while Jess Brushella ('06) brings up the rear.

Kerin Gardner makes it to the finish line setting the pace with her backstroke. Swim fish, swim!

The swim team is lead by Captains Laura Fletcher, Colleen Colloruso, and Liz DeLise. With the aid of their coach Christa Gillis the swim team has stroked their way into three wins this season. The team is known for their immense spirit in the face of stiff competition. When swimmers are not competing, they are cheering for their teammates in who are in the water. This gives the team a sense of camaraderie that not many other teams have. Heart is something that is stressed by Coach Gillis.

The team feels that the illness of Sarah Boniface may have held them back, as Sarah has been unable to compete since September. Her twin Leah Boniface swam her way into the New England Championships in February with her 50yd breaststroke.

Sara and Leah Bonaface are just one set of twins making waves on the Regis Campus.

Spring training was a treat for the team this year, as the swimmers made their way to San Diego California. The students enjoyed the warm weather in January when it was frigid back home. The team was able to escape from their training regiment long enough to try surfing and to explore the wild at the San Diego Zoo.

Kerin Gardner, Scarlett Leta, and Laura Fletcher, seniors, finish off the season with a smile and a splash.

SAAC

The members of SAAC gather for their weekly meeting to discuss the Regis College athletics and how they can get the student body more involved in supporting the teams.

SAAC, the Student Athletic Advisory Council, is comprised of a group of student athletes and their advisors Mary Beth Lamb and Christa Gillis. This particular organization concentrates on issues within the athletics of Regis. They also run a number of events to get the student body more involved with the athletics. For example, they have sponsored events like trips to Celtics games and yard sales. They are also involved in community service. This year they ran a Toys for Tots program for Christmas.

The ladies of SAAC put their heads together to discuss the status of Regis Athletics. Representatives of SAAC come from several of the different athletic teams at Regis.

Head basketball coach Tony Staffiere offers the troubled Trina Hill some advice.

Athletic staff

Temporary coach Ted Benford commands the crew team from ahead.

Kim Luciano squeezes her chamois while Diving Coach Kate Allery offers an encouraging smile.

The Regis College Athletic Staff works hard to help keep the athletic programs of the college running. The Athletic Staff consists of the director Mary Beth Lamb, the coaches, and the entire staff of the athletic facility. Their contributions range from coaching the Regis athletic teams, providing statistics of their accomplishments to the student body, running programs, such as student body trips to Celtics games, and running the athletic facility itself. They provide the students with the opportunity to participate in sports, as well as entertainment for the rest of the Regis community.

The Athletic Staff is comprised of Roberta Daniels, Mark Clemente, Christine Kliober, Devin Cashman, Christa Gillis, Heather Gilmore and Mary Beth Lamb.

Middle left: Swim coach Christa Gillis talks with Diving coach Kate Allery about her hopes for the swim team.

Middle right: Mary Gay gives us a giant ROAR as she struts her stuff as the Regis College mascot.

Bottom left: Coach Christa talks to trainer Devin Cashman and Liz DeLise. Devin and Liz seem to be more focused on the camera than what Christa is saying.

Faces Of Regis

A car on campus was a privilege in the 1960's. Freshmen were not allowed to keep a car on campus.

In the first class at Regis College, there were 55 first years, 33 members of the class lived on campus, and four were Sisters of Saint Joseph.

[Memory from the freshman year blackout] "Sledding down Morrison Hill on a café tray that was polished with pledge!" –Kaitlynn Malinowski

"My most memorable moment was the blackout of freshman year. We were gathered together and hanging out. It gave us more opportunity to talk to friends and gave us a break from homework." –Helen Tse

Underclassmen

Clockwise from top:
Dana Begurie with Cassie Blondel's encouragement gives Kara Gilligan "Moose ears" on Kara's 21st birthday.

Yves Vanessa and Maria Fraire get cozy in their corner.

Oliva Robinson and her mom take a break from lunch. The only problem is that they can't figure out which way to go next.

Isabel Hall and Caitlin Connolly are trying to run away from stress on Spring Weekend.

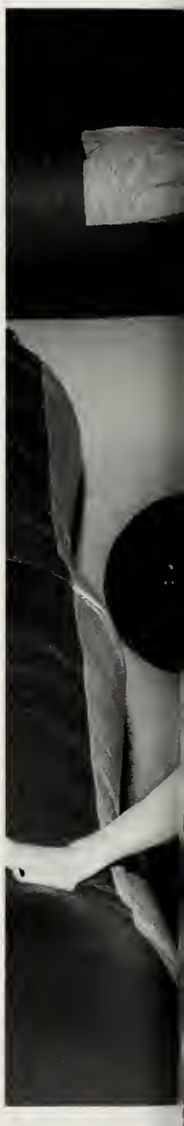
Lauren Petrafassi ponders: "Do I like my hair down like this or up in spikes?"

Meghan Beck and Sara Vellela crack up about the patheticness of the Halloween decorations in their hall.

Liz Aiollo hopes to master levitation so she can use it to conquer the world.

Top Left: Erin Cambell wins the award for most decorated wall.

Top Right: Kim Luciano struts down the hallway with all of her field hockey gear. Go Regis!



Ruby Yau teaches Cate Howley the importance of Starbucks in a senior's life.

Jessica Milos and Caitlin Walsh are showing off their picture perfect smiles.

Even though she went to London, Amanda Collins still can't get away from Regis.

Cathy Onsansaya is showing off her skills and what it means to be part of the Pride.

Kara Gilligan and Nora Gross do all their best work with markers!

Susan Wally is doing her best Godzilla impersonation for SGA.

Mandy Fleming and Emily Hall share a moment while they reflect on the events of the Latina Celebration.

Ryan Carney is using the world famous cafeteria "freedom" french fries to recruit her sister to Regis.

Watch out! Kara Gilligan wakes up after a looong night!

Cathy Onsansaya, Heidi Gomes, Nicole Messuri and Erin Campell are the strength behind the sophomore class.

He may not be a Regis student, but he is definitely a part of our Regis experience. Kiss Dude and his self-portrait tell the Regis community to "Rock on!"

Melenda Johnson is just too excited about her internship. Something on that computer must be cracking her up!

Why do Heritage scholars always seem to work harder than the traditional students?

Heritage scholars

Lynn Johnson, Laurie Mantegari and Nicole Kanelos are taking a break from studying for musical theatre.

Darlene Ellis' children want to tell the world how proud they are of their mom.

College Life

In the early days of Regis, lights were out at 11pm. Sunday–Thursday, and lights had to be out by midnight on Friday and Saturday nights.

During the black out [Senior year] Dominique, Priscilla and I and some of the AI guys walked through the tunnel in the dark looking for a place to use the Ouji board. We ended up going to the commuter lounge to play and then we went for a walk to the tower."
–Amy Mason

"On 9/11 I remember I was sleeping when I heard Juliet say 'Oh my God.' I was half asleep and in disbelief that it happened. The 2nd plane hit when I woke up. It was so weird to wake up to that. I remember going to the chapel where everyone was supporting each other, coping, and crying."
–Julianne Hansbury

Freshmen year

Kamille Carthy gives a piggyback to her friend Paula Powers around Angela Hall. Paula offers her impression of Gene Simmons of KISS.

Oh yeah I'm cute! Look at me get down with my bad self! Monica Rojas having a good time in Angela Hall.

Kim Allain squeezes out a smile while in the course of studying.

Take the picture before I serve you a knuckle sandwich! says Ruby Yau.

Having one last laugh before moving out, Kristen Deveau and Jen McGlynn put on their playboy bunny wear. Here we come Mr. Hefner!

Zaranique Watson, Ciara Clark and Connie Pires stroll leisurely to class. Who says you can't have senioritis freshman year?

Taking a break from her schoolwork, Kerin Gardner daydreams of a better place.

Top Left: Lorick Wash gets silly with her "I'm too cute/Shirley Temple" impression. Looks like someone has been studying for too long.

Top Right: Well, our mothers don't have to worry about boys taking advantage of us here at Regis. But what about Regis students taking advantage of stuffed animals? Wonder what Dana Beguerie is planning on doing with that lion after she gets it intoxicated.

Roommates Juliet Forte and Julianne Hansbury get down and dirty on the dance floor at the Christmas Snowball. Put that tongue away young lady!

You don't have to be a kid to still enjoy playing in the leaves. Katelyn Cormier, Kaitlynn Malinowski, and Priscilla King are enjoying the beautiful fall and the fun leaves it provided for play!

Sophomore year

Either Stephanie Barros is enjoying doing Amy Cadell's hair or we have a problem with the ladies trying to ride each other.

Mary Gay and Emmette Montañez are...let's just not ask.

Nikki Williams is really getting into the song at the 2001 Christmas Snowball! Not even a dress can stop her from jumping to the music!

Junior year

Cassie Blondel has an American Pie moment with her chair. She just does not want to let go.

Kim Lyder, Najmah Freedman and Scarlet Leta laugh on their way to cool off in the Athletic Facility pool.

Bottom Left: Not so tight! Lorene Sestayo gives Monica Rojas a squeeze.

Bottom Right: Paula Powers and Suzy Gomes are chilling in the guest room for a friend's birthday party.

At her twenty-first birthday party, Leslie Cordeiro does her impression of Mariah Carey being attacked by frosting.

Who are you supposed to be? Mary Gay and Amy Mason prepare for the Celebrity TT.

Where is my food? Lauren Iorio ('03), Renee Walters and Amy Cadell anxiously await their meals at the BOP Christmas dinner.

Hanging Around campus

Late nights in the Graphic Labs can really mess a girl up. Angela Carpinella, leave that llama alone!

Although classes get tough, Regis women know how to enjoy a beautiful day around campus. At least Marinet Demirciyan, Ana Silva, Jussarah Franco, Amanda Howard, Lindsey Leon and Rakela Lubonja do.

Left: Crystal Simmons, Ciara Clark, Zaranique Watson and Tenneh Boima wait for food at the café. Hey, it's better than the cafeteria food.

Middle: Hey man, just let me eat! Kathy Pimental puts her pout on as Lesley Cordeiro leans over for a snapshot.

Right: Are you getting my good side? Ruby Yau and Nikki Williams flash a couple of grins at the camera.

Weee!! Kerin Gardner really is just hanging around campus.

Regis sisterhood at its best. Abby Allen and Laurie Mantegari pause before they set off on a road adventure.

Dorm Life

Seniors reuniting after a summer apart and ready to begin their last year at Regis. Angela Donahue, Kaitlynn Malinowski, Angela Carpinella and Amy Mason hang out in Amy's room on moving day.

Taking a study break, Trina Hill and Lorick Wash bear their pearly whites for the camera.

Cassie Blondel shares a loving hug with a rather perturbed Laura Wirth. Isn't friendship grand.

Caught off guard in the library, Mye-Mye keeps her hands focused at the computer.

Alisandra Monteiro, Carolyn Brunis, Lesley Cordeiro and Kathy Pimental laugh off their senior stress for the camera.

Their parents always said that their faces would get stuck like that. Lorena Setayo and Mercedes Cardona show that roommates really are one of a kind.

Seniors and exhausted, Dominique Salvacion and Amy Mason still have time to smile. They actually took this picture for décor for Dana Beguerie'ssenior hoop.

Caught Off Guard

Stand up straight! Mandy Martino as a nun, a very scary thought.

Amanda Howard is trying to sleep while Jussarah Franco is eating up her candy. That was one long all-nighter.

Not even a little rain can stop Dominique Salvacion from getting a little frisky. What is she doing to that lion?

Dominique Salvacion and Angela Carpinella get a head start on moving into their future home...a cardboard box. Looks like Dominique is about to rip off Angela's ear for the master bedroom.

Left: Kaitlynn Malinowski, who knew your secret life consisted of sexual fantasies. It is always the quiet ones.

Middle: Jodia Nesbeth, Crystal Simmons, and Tenneh Boima show off their crazy poses. Tenneh was trying to compete for the prettiest tongue.

Right: Ruby Yau who punched you? Are you sure you are o.k. That was one crazy fight.

Tenneh Boima puckers up and models her dress before a night out.

I'm too sexy for my shoes. Connie Pires struts her stuff in the halls before she joins the night life of Boston.

Nikki Willaims and Trina Hill embrace in anticipation of the semiformal. They sure are feeling sexy tonight.

Rakela Lubonja, Ciara Clark, Lincy Leon, Amanda Howard and Julie Eche show some attitude while getting ready to head over to a TT. Watch out boys, here they come!

Julie Eche, Mary Gay and Lincy Leon give it up for the camera.

Getting Ready

Night Out on the town

Abby Allen, Lorena Sestayo and Dominique Salvacion pre-game with margaritas at Bennigan's. They are going to need those drinks to get through the ballet they are about to see.

Bottom Left: Nirphemy Danbrevill, Crystal Simmons, Ismaelite Jean-Baptiste, Zaronique Watson and Tenneh Boima pause before going into the club for a night of dancing.

Middle Left: Jamie Loud, Amy Mason and Priscilla King chill out at Bennigan's while waiting for their food.

Middle Right: Vivian Yaeggy Lorena Sestayo, Lesley Corderio, Lorick Wash and Melanie Acuna pile in the back seat clown-style. Who says back seats are built for three...

Bottom Right: Rubber duckie you're the one! Dana Beguerie plays with her newfound friend.

Nikki Williams and Trina Hill take on a large drink together. It takes two, baby!

Alcohol always bring out the dancer in people. Looks like Mandy Martino has enjoyed one too many!

Lushious Ladies

"No this isn't my cigarette!" Kristen Deveau and Bobbie Finocchio share a moment and some drinks freshman year.

Jess Homer, Kristen Deveau and Melanie Acuna belly up to take a dive into their oversized drinks. The waiter in the background looks like he wants to lap something up as well!

Save the Smirnoff! Jess Homer, Lesley Corderio, Melanie Acuna, Victoria Montgomery and Susie Gomes all take a swig for Lesley's 21st.

Clockwise from the top:
"There is nothing in the bag, promise!" Cassie Blondel attempts to hide her shady bottle in a brown bag.

Ana Clarice Silva and Jussarah Franco are ready for the party in Miami Beach over Easter Break 2001.

Erin Giarda and Dana Beguerie are hanging out with their best friend Seagram. Underage drinking is so underrated.

Cassie Blondel and Kiki Gilligan toast to celebrate Cassie's 21st birthday. Finally those drinks are legal!

Shauna Cocco and Michelle Goloborodko stop to pose for a quick picture on the busy streets of Salem, Halloween 2002.

Cassie Blondel and Melanie Acuna get "pie faced" at the Carnival during Spring Weekend 2002.

CP wannabe Melanie Acuna does a little dance for Campus Police during "Dress your RA up day" Looks like CP was enjoying the show.

Dominique Salvacion humps the unknown man's leg in Fanuiel Hall while Abby Allen and Amy Mason touch him in a gentler way.

Left: The "Ang Team" is at it again. Angela Carpinella and Angelina Mancini spice up their day with a little dance in between phone calls.

Middle: Seeing stars! Bobbie Finnochio, Kristen Kosten, Jen McGlynn, Gina Taconni-Moore, Jess Homer, Molly Mazzerini, Paula Powers, Meghan McBride and Kristen Deveau are ready for the summer sun!

Right: Nirphemy Danbrevill, Tenneh Boima and Ismaelite Jean-Baptiste chill in the back seat on their way for a night on the town.

Jen McGlynn does her best super-hero pose as her and Amanda Demeo get silly in Angela Hall.

Amy Cadell gets cozy with her new man...at least it's not a blow up doll!

Left: Melanie Acuna and Yokathelin Pimentel practice their circus act in the hallway of Angela Hall. At least someone will be able to find a job after graduation...

Middle: Softball spring training in Florida makes Bobbie Finocchio and Camile McNeil pucker up!

Right: Working girls Jussarah Franco and Amanda Howard get some hands on experience at their Internship.

Mandy Martino's friends try to take her homework away from her while on their Glee Club trip to Ireland. She never parts from her studies.

Suzie Gomes offers up a smile as she is caught off guard for a picture.

Ladies in black Jen McGlynn, Kristen Deveau, Jennifer Belliveau and Katie Carr pose before going out and making mischief!

Clockwise from top:
On the T, Lorena Sestayo, Amy Mason, Abby Allen and Jamie Loud bond on their ride to the Boston Ballet.

Angela Carpinella takes a page from the book of the campus squirrels and guards her food with her life.

It's the two headed monster! Sarah Rourke and Cassie Blondel share a hug, and apparently a body!

Salem really tired these girls out! Nicole Hoffman, Erin Giarda and Laura Wirth sleep on bench, taking away a valuable spot for the homeless!

Advertisements

The Regis Tower once served as a water tower, clock tower, observation tower and it became an airplane observation post during WWII.

"Regis has become a home away from home for me. I have made friendships that will follow me throughout life."
–Angela Donahue

"I will leave Regis with memories, a little sadness, and lessons I have learned. I will also leave a stronger person..."
–Nikki Williams

"I think what I will miss most is move-in day. You get to see all your friends that you haven't seen for 3 months, and you get to spend the first couple weeks of school building memories with friends rather than building headaches with work!"
–Angela Carpinella

From the moment I looked into your eyes, I knew your future would be bright as my only daughter. Words can't express how proud you have made me. I want you to remember I will always love you from beyond the heavens and back.

Love Always,
Mommy

To Dana,
You will always have my love, my pride, and my support forever.

Congratulations.
Love,
Dad

Dear Amy,
Thank you for bringing so much joy into our lives.
We are so proud of you.
Love,
Nana and Grampa

Thanks for the sunshine you have brought into our lives. We love you and are very proud.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Dear Helen,
To the best big sister, daughter and friend we could ever ask for...may all your dreams come true.
Love Always,
Mom, Dad, Nick and Rea

Dear Erin,
Congratulations on your accomplishments.
We are so happy, and very proud of you.
Love Always,
Mom, Dad & Patrick

Angela,
Congratulations! We are all so very proud of you.
Love,
Mom, Dad, Paul, Nonna and Daniela

Congratulations

Tenneh

Thanks for keeping the promise and making us proud. May your wishes be fulfilled.

From Mammy, Dad, Bendu, Quincy, Juku, Osman, Blamoh, Gbessay, Kuway, Sombo, Dongonyaro, Darius, & Neor

Integrity

Compassion

Loyalty

Love

These sweet memories of you
Are just the beginning,
Graduate with our prayers in your heart,
Our songs in your soul, as you-
Celebrate you.
All our love and support always dear JuJu.
Mom, Dad and Matt

Congratulations Shauna! We are very proud of you. Love, Mom, Dad & Michael Congratulations Juliet!

Oh, the places you will go, when you follow your dreams. Good luck in the future. With all our love, Mom, Dad, Jamie and Johnny xoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxo

Dear Priscilla,

May you always dance and reach for the stars!

Love, Mom and Dad

xoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxoxo

Kerin,
We are so proud of you! As you head into the world, always remember that we love you very much.
Mom and Dad

Maria,
Congratulations!
All of your hard work has brought you to this end and a new beginning.
We are extremely proud of you.
Best Wishes!
Love,
Mom, Dad,
James and Matthew

Julianne, From the moment we laid eyes on you, we were in love. The love story will continue forever.

Couldn't be prouder, Love, Mom & Dad XOX

Laurie:
Since the start of your learning experience you have made us proud with all your accomplishments. We wish you continued success on the journey of life.
Love Always,
Mom & Dad

Congratulations Ang,
Grandpa would be so proud...Education,
Education, Education!
Love Always
Mom, Dad, John, and the Family

Moniquita (Nena)
Bendito sea "Dios"
Por habernos permitido estar en su graduación y ver premiado sus esfuerzos durante todos estos años.
Gracias "Dios" mío por habernos dado tan maravillosa hija.

Su familia que la admira y aprecia,
Quique, Waltercito, sus padres Lilian y Walter

I will always be grateful to God for such a Wonderful daughter.
Familia Rojas Balcarcel

Krista,
From your first tentative baby steps to your confident, poised steps on stage to receive your diploma...from braving your first day of kindergarten to leading a class of your very own...we've been there for you, sometimes seen, sometimes not, but always beaming, bragging, boundlessly proud. You're everything we could have hoped for in a daughter and a l'il sis.
Love, Mom, Dad, and Big Bro

Congratulations Aroostine!
Lots of Love,
Mom and Dad

Renee,
I am so proud of you.
Keep reaching for your goals.
Love, Mom

Suzy,
Keep reaching for your goals!
Love, Mom, Dad, Derek and Melanie

Hi Naj,
Congratulations and good luck to you. I know you can be successful in anything you put your mind to.
Love,
Mom, Sisters Tiffany and Asha,
Brother Rolyn, Grandma,
Auntie Cutie, and Auntie Shelley

May God bless you
in your future endeavors.

Amy,

May all of your goals and dreams come true.

We are so very proud of you!

Love,

Mom, Dad, Leslie and Joshua

Dear Melanie,

We are proud of you.

Sabemos que alcanzaras lo que te propongas, porque conocemos de tu constancia; acuérdate que el que persevera.....Gana.

Te queremos un monton.
Papi y Mami

Bobbie,
Congratulations on your graduation dear daughter, we're shedding tears of joy just thinking of how proud we are of you. When you were young, we knew you had great promise. Thanks for proving us right. As you celebrate your recent accomplishment. Remember that your future goals are limited only by your ability to believe in yourself. We all love you very much.

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Steffie

For my daughter Crystal Simmons,
You had a long road ahead of you, you travelled it like no other. You made us proud with every step you took through this journey of life. God blessed us with a wonderful daughter and sister. We love you more than words.
Congratulations on a job well done!!!
Love,
Mummy, Latoya, Ronaldo, Carl and Sassy

"Give the warld the best you have,
and it may never be enough;
Give the warld the best you've gat anyway.
You see, in the final analysis, it is between you and Gad;
It was never between yau and them anyway."
-fram ANYWAY by Mather Teresa-

Caroline,
Keep giving the world the best you've got. We are so proud of you!
With love, Mom, Rich, MK, Jen, and Dan

(207) 359-8850 Fax (207) 359-4456

PRIN A. ALLEN & SONS, INC.
CONTRACTORS & BUILDERS

MICHAEL P. ALLEN
PRIN A. ALLEN, III
MATTHEW T. ALLEN

P.O. BOX 1
BROOKLIN, ME 04616

ASTA

Cynthia Appleby
Owner
483 Boston Post Road
Weston, MA 02493
Tel: 781-891-9110
Fax:781-891-3921
email: westontravel@comcast.net
www.westontravel.vacation.com

Weston Travel Service

Jussarah,
I just want to express how you make me proud and how much I love you. May God shine his light upon your paths day after day. I wish you the greatest happiness in the world and may all your dreams come true. I thank God for everything, especially for your love, endlessly. Congratulations on this great accomplishment.
Love, Mom

To: Ang & Nicole
Congratulations & Best Wishes!
Thanks for all your help!
From The Office of Financial Aid

Michelle,
May your life always be filled with Love, Inspiration & Success.
We are so proud of you!

With All Our Love & Congratulations
Mom, Dad & Johnny

Lesley,
Thank you for bringing so much joy into our lives. Congratulations and God Bless you.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Amanda, Andrew & Sarah

Congratulations Michelle!
I love you more than words could ever say. No one is more proud of you than I am.
May success walk beside you always.
-TR

Best wishes for your continued success and Welcome to the Alumnae Association!

-From the Offices of Development and Alumnae Relations

Omni Foods
SUPERMARKETS

Serving Our Communities with Pride

200 Boylston St.	21 Center St.
Chestnut Hill, MA	Weston, MA
Phone	Phone
617-558-3364	781-894-0675

Gracias mami ypapi les agradescosu apoyo son los mejores padres del mundo q "Dios" los bendiga.Gracias a toda mi familia ya mis hermanos. -Moniquita

Erin, Thanks for all the laughs, support and memories. You are the best!Ang

To Ang, Thanks for all the support and laughs! It's been a lot of fun! EB

Felicitaciones Melanie,Kathy,Leslie,Lorena,Mecha,Angela,& Kat.Love,Monica R

DB,KA,LW,KG,KH,E&N this isnt the end.Thanx Mom&Daddy.Chip-I love u! -Cassie

All my roomies - I'll cherish every laugh we've shared, tears we've cried & memory we've made. Thanks for a great 4 years! I love you - Melanie

Mel, Thank you for guiding me thru my 4 yrs here. You were my strength. Kathy, to you I owe my best laughs. Thank you for being you. Lesley, mi Poruguesa. For your friendship & cooking, I would give a million massages. Lorena

C-Curve gals: dance won't be the same w/o you! Love, peace and luck, Jamie

I would like to thank my immediate family, friends, and my boyfriend for all their love and support. Also good luck to my friends in the future. Love, Lesley Cordeiro. Hugs and kisses to all!

To all my friends. Thank you for always being there. I love you all. Kerin

Grazie alla mia famiglia per tutto che abbiate fatto per me. Vi amo. Angela

This is 2 my Mom & Dad for believing & supporting me.Thank you and I love you.

Lesley, Melanie, & Lorena, Don't worry, Leaving Regis is just the beginning of our adventure. Friends forever, Love, Kathy.

To the senior RA's: You taught me so much. Good luck in all you do! SV

Dominique: I'm really glad I got to know you. I will miss you lots! SV

To my girls, Thanks for the times, memories, and for helping me bloom. Lore

To Aileen, an awesome person I met here, never change! You will be missed.

Mercedes, Thank you for your love and friendship ~Aileen

Let loose from the grafix lab haleluya!Luv 2 Kat & Mon 4 the insanity. Ang

I believe in angels, I call them some of my best friends. Love you JJDCL ~Kiki

Congratulations to the Class of 2004 on a job well done.

Good luck, health and happiness in the future.

~The 2004 Regis College Yearbook Staff

Autographs

Autographs

Editors-in-Chief

Angela Carpinella
Dominique Salvacion

Business Staff

Yoseni Cabrera
Juliet Forte *
Solangel Rodrigues

Graphic Staff

Meghan Beck
Angela Carpinella *
Elizabeth Haire
Monica Rojas

Photography Staff

Christine Claudino
Nicole Mancini
Lorena Sestayo *

Writing Staff

Erin Brennan
Mercedes Cardona
Shauna Cocco *
Angela Donahue
Esmely Infante
Angelina Mancini
Dominique Salvacion *

REGIS COLLEGE
ARCHIVES

* denotes editors

REGIS COLLEGE
ARCHIVES

2004